FREIGHTING BY YANGTSE JUNKS PROVING COSTLY

Dishonest Boatmen Frequently Wreck Vessels Purposely

THEN BLAME THE GORGES

Powerful Steamers Safest For "Up Country" Shipments

(China Press Correspondence)

Chungking, May 9.—The most exciting news at present is the foundering or disablement of steamers in the Gorges. The Meishun was the first to come a cropper. Then the Kilkin broke her propeller blades. At the beginning of the steamer season this is reckoned a calamity as, first, discouraging the building of more ships and second as interfering with the transport of cargo.

The sending of goods by junk from Ichang to Chungking is more and more regarded as hopeless. Certain shippers, it is alleged, have been paying the whole cost of freight in advance which was too big a temptation for the average Captain. It paid them to wreck their boats a few days up and pocket the surplus, rather than go on to Chungking.

The old Chinese plan was to pay a percentage at the first, so much at Kweifu and at Wanhsien and the balance at Chungking. Long experience taught this was the only feasible plan. But some foreigners with more money than common sense thought they could better it by paying 90 percent or more in advance with the above result. Perhaps their employees advised them to it with an idea of sharing in the spoils.

One of the oil firms have found out at last that many of their "wrecks" were engineered by one or more of their men in conjunction with the boatmen. Usually so many cases were reported as "Sunk" which in reality were sold and the proceeds divided. No wonder shippers lament accidents to steamers; they want traffic put on a good basis and this roguery eliminated.

Your correspondent recently came up by steamer. He watched carefully the routes the pilot took in different waters and he came to the conclusion that the pilots often steered as if they were still on their cypress wood junks. Time and again he went much too near the bank when there was no call for it. A foreign pilot would never have taken some of the courses he took. Though he knew he was in deep enough water he would always have allowed an extra five or ten yards where that was possible as a saving margin. The native is apt to cut it too clean.

In the case of the Meishun no particulars are yet definitely known. A side current, it is said, unexpectedly did the mischief, which was quite unforeseen and no one was to blame. And any one who knows the Upper Yangtsze knows how it will boil up suddenly and act as if "demented." This is why the Chinese think that demons live in the depths.

The two best steamers are said to be the Loongmow and the Shuhen, certainly the former comes up in 3½ days which is excellent time. We want more of its type. Only powerful engines and strong rudders can compel safety.

Another item of interest is the rumor that Liu Tsung-hou has retired and means to have a quiet time now in Shanghai. Liu's ups and downs would make a racy volume. But this much remains even if he has made mistakes in trusting too much some of his fellow soldiers, he has ever been true to democracy. Some day he may come to the front again when he is older and has gained a deeper knowledge of the things that count most.

Summer has come early this year. But no one is grumbling. Business is good, the country is quieter for travel than it has been for a long time and most seem happy.

POLICE STRIKE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, May 14: (by mail).—The most recent labor troubles in the Philippines took the form of a police strike in the town of Taal, Batangas, near Manila. Members of the force, with a few exceptions, quit their posts as the result of a reduction in wages. A platoon of constabulary was despatched to the town to preserve order, pending the formation of a new police department.

Wood's Campaign Treasurer 'Welched,' He Says

WILLIAM Procter, manager of Major-General Leonard Wood's campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination, has filed suit to recover $110,000 from Major Albert Sprague, of Chicago, treasurer of the campaign, according to reports from Chicago. Mr. Procter, according to the reports, charged that he and Mr. Sprague signed a $100,000 promisory note to finance the Wood campaign and Mr. Sprague failed to pay his half of it when the note was called for collection. Mr. Procter said he paid the whole amount.

HARVEY SPEECH AGAINST LEAGUE STIRS IRE IN U.S.

Democrats And Pro-League Republicans Wrathful

(Reuter's Service)

New York, May 24.—The Democrats and those republicans who favor the League of Nations are dissatisfied with Colonel Harvey's recent speech at the Pilgrims' Club dinner in London.

Mr. Flood has introduced a resolution in the House of Representatives, asking whether the speech was officially sanctioned. The Democrats especially object to Colonel Harvey's statement that the United States did not enter the war for altruistic motives.

The pro-League Republicans have sent Lord Robert Cecil a resolution assuring him that the sentiment of America still favors the League.

Coal Miners And Operators Will Be Summoned To Conference

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 25.—The strike of Glasgow dockers, who decided a month ago not to discharge coal from ships during the miners' stoppage, has collapsed. A mass-meeting of the men today decided to resume work.

London, May 25.—In the House of Commons today at question-time, Mr. Chamberlain announced that, as there was still no sign of an agreement between the parties in the coal dispute, the Government had decided to make another effort to find a solution, and would summon a conference of miners and owners for Friday (cheers).

London, May 25.—As evidence of the easing of the international situation, Reuter's Paris correspondent reports that, after consulting with the Commander-in-Chief of the Rhine, the French Government has decided to send home the married men of the 1919 class, which was recently mobilised in connection with the reparations demands.

Berlin, May 23.—In approving Dr. Wirth's policy, the famous German journalist, Herr von Gerlach writes that the chief obstacles to the Chancellor's goodwill are the continual enlistment of volunteers by patriotic associations, despite the Government's interdiction, and the sending of ammunition to Upper Silesia.

Semenoffs Take Nikolsk Garrison, Disarm Militiamen

(Dalta News Agency)

Vladivostok, May 24.—A strong detachment of Semenoff's surrounded the militia barracks at Nikolsk today. They proceeded to disarm all the City and District Militia, and were not resisted. The Division of the People's Defence Guard, however, refused to surrender their arms when ordered to do so by the Semenovists. Two of the Assistant Chiefs of the Nikolsk Militia also mutinied, and went over to the Semenovists, together with a number of their men. By an order from Vladivostok all the Militia at Nikolsk which was disarmed by the Semenovists has been discharged. A new Militia detachment has been sent to Nikolsk from Vladivostok to replace the former Militia, and the local Japanese command has been officially informed of this action. The Government has also dispatched a special Commission for the purpose of making inquiries about the events in Nikolsk; they, however, have not reached Nikolsk, and it is feared that they have been detained by Japanese.

Vladivostok, May 26, 2:30 p.m.—The Government of Vladivostok has been completely overthrown by Kappel troops.

There has been very little fighting. The town is orderly.

(Dalta News Agency)

Vladivostok, May 25.—Last night, Mr. Popoff, Chairman of the Russian Delegation of the Russo-Japanese Conciliatory Committee, forwarded an official note to the local Japanese Command regarding the events that have occurred at Nikolsk. The main feature of the note is that the armed groups which are being stationed in Nikolsk are Anti-Governmental and, being such, must be disarmed by the Japanese Command in accordance with their agreement of April 29 last. No answer has been received from the Japanese to this note.

The Japanese Command has sent a detachment of six hundred men to Anuchino, the purpose of the expedition is unknown. Local Russian authorities were not allowed to inform the Anuchino Garrison about the expedition by wire.

DUBLIN CUSTOM HOUSE SET ON FIRE BY SINN FEINERS

Fighters Reach Flames Only Through Aid Of Troops

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 25.—It is officially stated that a large party of Sinn Feiners this afternoon set fire to the Dublin Customs House, one of the finest buildings in the country, with petrol. Wild scenes ensued and the officials fled.

The fire brigade was at first prevented from proceeding to the scene, but subsequently reached the building under the protection of the Crown Forces.

The military arrived in lorries and were greeted with bombs, to which they replied with machine-guns, rifles and revolvers. Seven Sinn Feiners were killed, 11 wounded and 65 made prisoners, and four auxiliaries wounded in the course of the fighting.

The Customs house which cost £1,000,000, has been entirely destroyed.

Liberty Hall, the headquarters of the Irish Transport-workers, has also been burned down.

London, May 25.—In the House of Commons today, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, Sir Hamar Greenwood, stated that the casualties among the Crown Forces in Ireland from January 1 to April 30 numbered 109 policemen killed, and 224 wounded, and 48 military killed and 113 wounded.

It was impossible, he said, to estimate the civilian casualties, as the casualties among the rebels were concealed wherever possible.

London, May 26.—The counting of votes in the Ulster elections has begun, but the extra work entailed by the proportional representation system will delay the declaration of most of the results until the week-end. The first member elected is Mr. Thomas Moles, (Unionist member of the House of Commons for the Ormeau division of Belfast) who has been returned for South Belfast by a clear quota. There is an indication that other three Unionists have been returned.

London 'Post' Asks 5 Power Conference On Japanese Pact

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 25.—A leading article in the Morning Post today, dealing with the question of the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, says the proposal of Mr. Hughes appears to be the only right solution of the problem.

It points out that Sino-Japanese relations must be considered together with the relations of Japan to the Western Powers. If these are amicably settled upon a durable foundation, the peace of the Pacific would be secured.

The article suggests a conference of representatives of the British Empire, the United States France, China and Japan, and expresses the hope that all parties will accept the principles of the "open door," and the strict maintenance of the integrity of China.

WOOD'S TRIP INDICATES U.S. AIM TO DEFEND PHILIPPINES

Manila Speculating On His Visit To Fuga And Bataan

BARREN ISLANDS

General Seeking Views Of 'Average' Citizens On Independence

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, May 25.—The problem of the defense of the Philippines has aroused much speculation locally, especially since the arrival of the Wood-Forbes mission. The visit of General Wood to Fuga and the Bataan Islands, midway between Luzon and Formosa, is believed to have a bearing on the question, as the islands are thinly populated and of no economic or political importance.

In military and naval circles it is believed that the Philippines are sufficiently provided with coast defences to repel an invasion, although it is felt that a stronger mobile field force would be desirable to prevent landings at exposed localities along the coast. The results of the recent naval manoeuvres in Manila Bay, which were subsequently published in a local paper in Manila, seemed to establish the supremacy of the Corregidor defenses in case of a sudden attack by destroyers.

While the Wood mission has been silent as to the military and naval problem, it is believed that certain members will study the question in some detail. General Wood, on his southern trip, is accompanied by Commander Bryant, Intelligence officer of the Asiatic Fleet, as well as by a number of army officers attached to the mission.

The Wood-Forbes mission is making special efforts to learn the views of the "average" Filipino on the independence question and the efficiency of the present government. Prearranged meetings, official speeches, and entertainments, have been dispensed with as far as possible, and the two principal members of the mission, as well as their subordinates, have adopted the plan of informal conference with private citizens in the small towns along their route.

One of the most promising signs of Filipino development, General Wood said, was the formation of women's clubs in the towns and villages. These institutions are devoted to child welfare, and according to the General, are doing much work of real value.

General Wood, at some points along his route, took an informal vote of the inhabitants on the independence question. Most of them favored a protectorate, although a few desired immediate and absolute separation from the United States.

The mission has been emphasising the fact that independence means the withdrawal of American protection—a point of view which apparently was new to most of the provincial inhabitants.

Mr. Forbes, who began the campaign for good roads in the Philippines fifteen years ago, when he was Secretary of Commerce here, has devoted much time on his trip to an inspection of their present condition. There was much feverish activity on the roads just before the arrival of the mission in Manila, some of them having been completely re-surfaced. Mr. Forbes, however, has made numerous side-trips by motor, and has examined the highways which are off the main line from Manila to Baguio. The results of his investigation have not yet been made public.

Manila To Have Educational Meet

Manila, May 14: (by mail).—A Far Eastern Educational Conference is to be held in Manila on December 15, to which members of the faculties of the principal institutions in Japan, China, Java, and the Hawaiian Islands will be invited. The Conference will be in session three days, its meetings being held at the University of the Philippines.

Dr. Guy Potter Benton, the newly-elected President of the University of the Philippines, will be inaugurated at the time of the conference.

Among the guests who it is hoped will be present are the members of the Pan-Pacific Scientific Congress, which is to meet in Honolulu in October.

Can You See Yourself Putting Over Chits— Outside The Orient?

BY ELSIE McCORMICK

OUTSIDE of a few palm-thatched villages on the rim or a far away Pacific Island or a a kraal in Central Africa that has not yet learned the commercial wiles of the foreigner, Shanghai is perhaps the most trusting city in the world. Certainly no other town of its size places the same childlike confidence in the honesty of its inhabitants, this trait being particularly surprising when one considers the floating elements of which its population is made. Shanghai boasts of being ultra-sophisticated, yet its attitude toward financial matters is that of a gentleman in a lava-lava guilelessly offering an island or two in return for a gas-range with no connection.

Take the matter of the chit. Who in his wildest flights of fancy could picture a stranger entering a restaurant in New York and offering for his dinner a name on a scrap of paper torn from a menu card? A gentleman unknown to the proprietor who confessed that he had only some keys and unposted letters in his pocket would make an informal exit on his ear if the restaurant were below Fourteenth Street, or would be constrained to hand over a piece of jewelry as a deposit, if the eating-palace happened to be situated in a more peace-loving neighborhood. His only possibility of buying a dinner with a bit of paper would involve the previous acquisition of a month's meal card, paid for in advance.

There are just a few places that are attempting to show a timid and palpitating trust in the human specie. Over in the banlieus of Greenwich Village is a little French pastry shop where girls from New York University, with glints of safety pins revealing the hasty marriage of waist and skirt, meet youths with polka dot ties and profuse complexes, and where lady artists in smocks or lady writers with ink-stained fingers keep up the reputation of the place for Bohemianism.

A TIMID TRUSTER

In this little shop, no checks are issued, patrons being trusted to go to the counter and whisper the extent of their indulgence to the fat proprietress. But there are numerous hovering waiters and one can't help suspect that Pierre out in the kitchen keeps a record of what he issues and transfers it by some Marconi system of his own to Madame behind the French pastry.

In Shanghai, however, one may enter practically any restaurant or cafe and merely inscribe his name and address on a piece of paper at the conclusion of the festivities. The boy who receives the chit has no means of checking up the statistics on it, nor does he ever attempt to do so. He simply files away the memorandum and trusts to the various joss that the signer of it will not feel urged to board any of the numerous trains or boats leaving the city before the first of the month.

The same system applies to automobiles. Again taking New York as an example, can anyone imagine offering a Manhattan taxi-cab driver a specimen of his autograph in return for a trip to One Hundred and Thirty-Seventh Street? The taxi man, who probably belonged to the Gas House Gang before his first term in the Reform School, would merely take a leaf from his old brass-knuckle days and make a few radical changes in his passenger's physiognomy. In Shanghai, however, anyone can take a car any distance and pay for it by a flourish of the pen which may or may not inscribe his right name. Occasionally one reads of people who leave town with taxi bills as long as a boa-constrictor, but local garages report that as rule people respond with surprising fidelity to the amount of trust shown.

ALL CHECKS ARE GOOD

A similar ingenuousness is observable in the attitude toward checks. Practically every store in the city exhibits an astonishing willingness to accept checks from complete strangers and

SENATE ASKS THREE POWER PARLEYS ON NAVY RECESS

Harding Requested To Invite Great Britain And Japan.

PEOPLE AROUSED

Same Proposal Failed When Brought Up At Last Session

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, May 25.—The Senate has unanimously adopted an amendment to the Naval Appropriation Bill, requesting President Harding to invite Great Britain and Japan to join the United States in a disarmament conference.

The above despatch indicates a change of view in the American Senate on the disarmament question, as it was only a few weeks ago that the same proposal, fathered by Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, failed to carry when it was presented in the Senate.

Since then Senator Borah and others have conducted a vigorous campaign for world disarmament, and this, apparently, has borne fruit. The campaign in the United States was launched by Senator Borah at an Easter Sunday mass meeting in Washington, arranged by the Woman's World Disarmament Committee. The meeting was called "to reduce the cost of war machinery and promote world peace."

"If you propose to cut war expenses," Mr. Borah declared at the meeting, "there is no practical or secure way to do so except through an agreement with the other nations who are now with us in a full swing in a great naval race."

After Mr. Borah and others had spoken, this resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That it be the sense of this meeting that we ask President Harding to call a conference of the nations on the question of world disarmament.

Resolved also, That, pending such a conference increased appropriations of Congress for armament shall be postponed.

"In the year 1920 five great nations, the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, expended for military and naval purposes, $16,442,251,101," Mr. Borah continued. "This is a little over $2,000,000,000 more than all these nations together expended for military purposes in fourteen years—from 1900 to 1914.

"What sedulous patrons of Bolshevism, what painstaking and industrious gardeners of unrest and misery the authors of such a program are.

"The question is, What can we do to secure relief, what can we do to stay this ceaseless grind of the masses which the present program foretells?

"You cannot relieve taxes to any perceptible degree by dismissing a few clerks in the departments at Washington. What is the program? Nearly 90 percent of our expenditures are for wars, past and anticipated. This is the thing which is driving us to financial disaster. If is proposed to relieve the situation by nibbling here and there at the 10 percent, or is it proposed to cut savagely into the 90 percent? If it is not proposed to deal with the 90 percent of the expenditures, then all hope or talk of retrenchment will be wholly without effect.

Isaac Ezra Restrained From Selling Properties Claimed By Brother Ellis

Interim Injunction Granted In British Court; Ellis Claims He Mortgaged His Property, Isaac Says It Was An Out-And-Out Sale

An interim injunction was granted in the British Supreme Court yesterday by Judge Skinner Turner, restraining Mr. Isaac Ezra from disposing of certain real estate and shares the title to which is claimed by his brother Ellis, pending the trial of a cause involving the ownership thereto.

Mr. Ellis Ezra's petition alleges that the property was transferred to his brother Isaac as security for a loan, while the brother Isaac in his answer maintained that the transfer was an out and out sale, and that he was therefore entitled to dispose of same at will.

Neither of the principals gave evidence in the cause, though both were in court. Mr. Ellis Ezra was represented by Mr. M Reader Harris, and the defendant by Mr. E. L. Hartopp. The proceedings comprised the hearing of the plaintiff's affidavit, the defendant's answer, and attorneys arguments on the request for the injunction.

THE PETITION

The plaintiff's petition alleged:

"1.—In December of last year I was desirous of borrowing money in order to assist my brother Judah Isaac Ezra who is the twin brother of the defendant, the said Judah Isaac Ezra being then in financial difficulties. The defendant agreed to lend me the sum of Tls. 30,000 repayable with interest at the rate of 16 percent per annum at any time during the year 1922.

"2.—The security for repayment of the said loan was to be my properties B. C. Lots 4441 5024, 5687, 5846, 8836, 9427 and 10342 which were already subject to mortgages and certain shares.

"3.—The defendant refused to lend the money unless I gave him a letter stating that I had sold him the properties outright. He stated that such a letter would not prejudice me as I should have the right to pay off the loan and get back the properties but he wished to be protected and to have the properties in case anything should happen to me during the year. He then prepared and I signed the letter a copy whereof is now produced and he paid me Tls. 30,000 less three months interest which he deducted in advance.

"4.—There is now produced a true copy of letters that have passed between me and the defendant and my solicitors, and the defendant relating to this matter. The letters written by me and my solicitors correctly set out the terms upon which the loan was made.

"5.—Last month the defendant was approached by a broker who desired to purchase B. C. Lot 5846. The defendant informed him that he was only interested to the extent of Tls. 100,000 (therein including the Tls. 70,000 for which the property is already mortgaged) and sent him to me. At the same time he wrote me the letter a true copy whereof is now produced.

"6.—I have been informed by my solicitors, and verily believe that the defendant has made application to H.B.M. Vice-Consul in charge of the Land Office for an appointment to transfer B. C. Lot 5846 to Messrs. Moorhead and Halse and that an appointment has been made for the 26th day of May, 1921. I verily believe that the defendant has been negotiating the sale of the said lot as I myself received an offer for the purchase of it from Messrs. Moorhead and Halse.

"7.—I am ready and willing to pay the interest due up to the present date."

ISAAC'S ANSWER

The answer of the defendant denies those parts of paragraphs Nos. 1 and 2 which says that he agreed to loan the plaintiff the sum of Tls. 30,000 on security. He had purchased outright, he maintained, the properties in question, together with other properties. He denied that he refused to loan money to the plaintiff without the securing letter as alleged. The question of a loan, he declared, was never raised.

The averment that he had deducted from the Tls. 30,000 three months interest in advance, also was denied. What really happened Isaac said was that at the time of making the said purchase the properties were and still are in mortgage to two different parties, totaling Tls. 3,000, on both of which interests were still in arrear.

The answer continues that checks for the Tls. 3,000 were sent to the mortgagees, and the balance Tls. 27,000 was handed over in a check to Ellis. Ellis, he said had thereupon wrote these mortgagees and other owners of shares and properties figuring in the transfer advising them that he had sold these properties and shares of stock to Isaac and advised that names should be changed, and that his connection with the properties had ceased. Copies of these letters were offered with the answer.

The answer also claimed that Isaac had paid overdue interests for Ellis on these properties and shares, and that Ellis had agreed to make repayment for same. This however he has not done in spite of repeated requests.

Isaac's answer continues:

"At the time of the sale I knew that the plaintiff was in financial difficulties, but being my brother, I felt that I would like to give him a chance to get back the properties and I therefore gave him a verbal option of repurchase to be exercised by him at any time on or before the 13th December, 1921 upon condition that he should pay to me on the 31st March, 1921, the sum of Tls. 600, and the same amount monthly on the last day of each subsequent month occurring before the said 13th December, 1921.

"This was to be regarded as an option money in earnest of good faith and also in consideration of the fact that no rent would be received by me for the Mohawk Road property, of which the plaintiff was and still is in personal occupation and the rental value whereof is approximately of that amount.

"At the same time it was a very express term of this option that in the event of the plaintiff failing to duly and punctually make any one of the said monthly payments the said option should thereupon immediately lapse and be determined and any previous monthly payment or payments be considered as rent and be forfeited to me.

"If on the other hand the said monthly payments were duly and punctually made, the same would be treated as payments on account and after being credited therewith the plaintiff was to be at liberty to re-purchase the properties from me at a price representing my cash expenditure, plus 20 percent thereon, which it was agreed would compensate me for interest and loss of use of the money invested.

DENIES PARAGRAPH 5.

"With regard to what is stated in paragraph 5 of the plaintiff's affidavit and the exhibit therein referred to this broker a Mr. Goldman called on me with a view of making an offer for purchase of No. 51 Rue Massenet but as he wanted vacant possession, and there was a lease, this did not suit him. I thereupon told him that I had another property belonging to me of which I could let him have vacant possession and gave him particulars of the Mohawk Road house. I absolutely deny that I ever informed the said Mr. Goldman that I was only interested to the extent of Tls. 100,000. I told him that I was inclined to sell for that figure. I deny that I ever sent the said Mr. Goldman to the plaintiff. Subsequently the plaintiff advised me that in his opinion the property was worth Tls. 130,000, and I withdrew my offer to the said Mr. Goldman explaining to him that though it suited me to sell for Tls. 100,000, I should be very glad if I could get more. The said Mr. Goldman thereupon remarked that this was a funny kind of business and he didn't know if he wanted the property even at Tls. 100,000. In further reference to what is stated in my said letter, although the plaintiff's option to re-purchase had lapsed I was still inclined, as a purely voluntary matter, to extend to the plaintiff a further opportunity to re-purchase, provided the whole of the moneys which should have been paid as a condition of the original option were immediately forthcoming. Failing this however it was my intention to sell the property without delay in another direction. I did not receive any reply from the plaintiff to my said letter, and although I frequently met him later no mention was ever made of it.

"The said Mohawk Road property was at the time of the sale to me and still is mortgaged for the sum of Tls. 70,000 the interest on which is guaranteed by Mr. Edward I. Ezra. Prior to the said sale I was advised and verily believe that the market value of his property was about Tls. 80,000 and I paid Tls. 11,000 cash, and took over the mortgage, making Tls. 81,000 in all. I certainly would never have agreed to lend Tls. 81,000 on mortgage of a property which was considered worth Tls. 80,000.

"On the 20th instant, after great difficulty, I succeeded in selling the said Mohawk Road property.

"I am able to depose to all the above facts from information within my own knowledge."

ATTORNEYS' ARGUMENT

Mr. Reader Harris for the plaintiff in his argument reviewed the case for the benefit of the Bench. He asked an injunction restraining Isaac Ezra from dealing in and disposing of the properties involved in the issue. A transfer of the property he advanced would seriously prejudice his client. "Land," he said, "could not be compensated for in damages." He quoted many authorities.

Mr. E. L. Hartopp for the defense opposed a request for a ruling that the property be retained in status quo. The only remedy, he offered, might be had by damages and not by injunction. He maintained that there had been an out and out sale while plaintiff insisted that it was merely a mortgage. Defendant had given an option to repurchase, but plaintiff had signally failed to avail himself of it so that therefore the option was cancelled.

The Court brought out that Isaac contemplated a transfer of the properties at once if the interim injunction were not granted. Judge Turner in granting the injunction explained that he was influenced by the fact that should he not grant it, and the properties were transferred, it might not be possible to restore them to their former ownership. The plaintiff, he said, was bound to have the injunction, in view of the third party likely to intervene as a purchase from the defendant.

The injunction was granted pending the trial of the action.

Tramway Inspector Accused Of Sharing Pickpocket's Loot

Charges of collusion between a pickpocket and a tramways ticket inspector were made by complainant and defendant in a case which came before the Mixed Court yesterday.

The complainant stated that he was riding on a tramcar on North Szechuen Road near Robison Road Wednesday when his pocket was picked of $200 in notes. He saw the man he suspected of committing the theft alight from the car and go into an alleyway and he said, also noticed that the ticket inspector left the car and followed the other. The complainant alighted when the car stopped again and went back, getting a policeman to arrest the suspect, who was found to be in possession of $150 in notes.

In court the accused said that he had picked the notes up from the floor of the car and that he was followed by the inspector, whom he knew, and questioned by him as to what he had found. "I gave him $50," declared the accused. "I was going to give back $100 to the man who lost the money."

The accused said he had known the inspector for about a year and had given him money before. "Formerly," he said, "I gave him 20 cents or so."

Mr. H. D. Rodger appeared in behalf of the inspector and Mr. W. Doran, Traffic Superintendent of the tramways company testified to the previous excellent record of the employe, who has been in the service since 1908. The inspector denied the charge made against him and declared that he did not know the accused.

The case was remanded to permit further investigation.

Mixed Court Jottings

An inquest was held yesterday at the Mixed Court over the body of a Chinese woman murdered by her husband in a hut in the country off Lay Road. The man also made an attempt to kill his daughter, stabbing her about the head with a hawker's knife as she slept. The girl is expected to recover. The victims were found by neighbors, who informed the police Wednesday morning. Later in the day the husband appeared at Yangtszepoo station and said he wished to make a report on the death of his wife. After some questioning he admitted committing the crime and said he had killed his wife because he believed her unfaithful.

One coolie was sentenced to a month's imprisonment and two others to one week each by the Mixed Court yesterday for the theft of ten bottles of chloroform and other drugs belonging to Messrs. Andersen, Meyer and Co. from a godown at the Cosmopolitan dock.

Another Chinese was charged yesterday in connection with the highway robbery of two Japanese who were set upon in an alleyway off Miller Road on May 11. The accused was remanded for trial with others already in custody.

The proprietor of an opium den at 120 Si Gee Bai Ka was sentenced to three months' imprisonment yesterday. The place was raided Wednesday night by Sub-Inspector Wilson and Detective Sergeants Tinkler and Kilkenny who made eleven arrests and seized a quantity of smoking paraphernalia. The police stated that the proprietor was previously in charge of another place which was raided for gambling recently, when fifty men were arrested. Six of the patrons of the opium den were fined $3 each and the others, failing to appear, forfeited bail of $10 each. The place was also evidently the resort of Morphia addicts, as several hypodermic syringes were found, and the police pressed for a severe sentence and expulsion.

LINEN SALE TODAY

The annual linen sale for the benefit of the Foreign Women's Home will open at 3:00 p.m. today in the Church House, 21 Kiukiang Road. Household linen, dress materials, knitted garments and fancy articles are among the articles to be on display. A home-made candy stall will also be one of the features of the sale. Tea will be served at four o'clock.

The Foreign Women's Home, which has done a great service in caring for women stranded in the city, is badly in need of enlarged quarters and better equipment. A larger number of women applied for aid during the past year than ever before, and if more room is not obtained, the Home will be obliged to turn many away.

Smiles from the Mixed Court

"He was driving along the Yangtszepoo Road with the car's tail light unlit," said the Sikh Policeman when Chauffeur Li Hou-foo's name was read off in the traffic court.

"My worthy colleague has his directions scrambled," said the Chinese police constable who also appeared to push the prosecution. "I saw the car at the same time. The tail light was all right. But there weren't any front lights."

"They're both dizzy," said Li. "The tail light was perfectly all right and so was one of the headlights. The other headlight, I admit, was out."

Waving Li hastily out of the way, the Court plunged into the next case.

MISAPPREHENSION ADJUSTED

C.P.C. 1098, who has an eye for infringements, however minor, of the Municipal code, observed the other day that Tsang Nyok, residing at 3 Chekiang Road, was possessed of a dog. He made inquiry of Tsang as to whether he also possessed a license for the animal and as Tsang did not he was called to Court to show reason.

"The dog," Tsang explained, "was given to me. It is a very small dog. I didn't know that the city had licenses for such small dogs."

The Court assured Tsang that the local revenue office was equipped with licenses suitable for dogs of all sizes and fined him a dollar just to impress it on his mind.

ENTERTAINMENT ITEM

Strolling down Foochow Road at 1:45 a.m. a Chinese detective observed that Tsang Zang-sing's wineshop was open and that sixteen persons were inside getting wet. Tsang was summoned to the Mixed Court where he protested indignantly that he had not been selling after hours. All these people who were drinking in his establishment when the detective passed by were relatives. Not so much as a cash could he collect from any of them. This struck the Court as being just plausible enough to call for a $3 fine.

Local Organisations Oppose Nippon Loan

Seven local organisations yesterday addressed a telegram to the Japanese Legation, asking it not to allow its merchants to lend money to the Peking Government, pointing out that the people of the country will refuse to recognise the loans if they are actually made.

The organisations which sent the message were the Kiangsu Educational Association, the Shanghai City Chamber of Commerce, the Shanghai City Educational Association, the World's Chinese Students' Federation, the Vocational Educational Association, the Oversea Chinese Society and the Shanghai Fire Brigades Union.

The telegram was sent in view of the early assumption of office by Li Shih-wei, the new Minister of Finance who is said to be bringing with him large amounts of Japanese capital.

Kiangnan Yards Launch Fourth Big Cargo Carrier For U.S. Shipping Board

Biggest Achievement Of Kind In China's History Realised When Steamer Cathay, Christened By Mrs Cunningham, Goes Down Ways

China's greatest shipbuilding achievement in the history of the country was brought to successful realisation yesterday when the great steel hulk of the steamer Cathay slid down the ways at the Kiangnan dockyard and out upon the waters of the Whangpoo. The Cathay is the last to be constructed of four ocean carriers that are the largest ever built in China, and it is held to be particularly fitting that in making this memorable industrial advance the Chinese Government was doing the work for the United States.

The four vessels, the Mandarin, the Celestial, the Oriental and the Cathay were built under contract with the United States Shipping Board and some measure of the accomplishment of the Chinese shipbuilders is to be gathered from the judgment passed by American shipping experts on the Mandarin, now gone into service after having been delivered at San Francisco several months ago.

These experts decided that the Mandarin not only met requirements and equalled in all ways the vessels built for the Shipping Board in other shipyards, American and others, but it was held that the Mandarin touched the peak in efficiency—that it was the best ship that had been built for the United States Shipping Board. The materials used and the methods of construction and administration followed in the building of the Mandarin likewise have been followed in the building of the three vessels yet to be delivered and no reason exists to doubt that these ships will parallel all the Mandarin has done.

THRONG AT LAUNCHING

Cloudy skies and the threat of rain had no effect on the attendance at the launching yesterday and the platform upreared at the prow of the vessel as it rested on the ways was packed when Mrs. E. S. Cunningham, wife of the American Consul-General crashed the bottle of wine against the ship and sent it on its way.

Mr. H. K. Kwong, Secretary of the Kiangnan Dock and Engineering Works, presided at the gathering that assembled following the launching and the conclusion of the addresses that were given. Admiral K. N. Liu made a presentation of a gold mesh bag to Mrs. Cunningham. Mr. Kwong was the first speaker.

"On behalf of my Directors" he said, "I thank you heartily for your coming this afternoon in weather that was far from promising to attend the launching of the steamer Cathay, the fourth and last vessel contracted for by the U. S. Shipping Board.

"On this occasion, it is fitting that we acknowledge our thanks to Mr. Perry, Special Representative of the Shipping Board, and his associates, who have been assisting us in every way in carrying on our work in connection with the construction of these vessels. Our thanks are also due to Mrs. Cunningham who has graciously consented to act as sponsor of the Cathay.

MR. KWONG'S ADDRESS

"It is not out of place to say a few words here in connection with the success of one of the sister vessels of the Cathay, the steamer Mandarin, which is now in commission. She exceeds in every respect the contract requirements, and the praise she has received from shipping experts, both in China and in America, is most gratifying to us.

"The latest report is from Captain Robert Dollar who stated that on her arrival at San Francisco the Mandarin was critically examined by experts of the Shipping Board and was unanimously declared to be the finest vessel built for the Shipping Board. This is, indeed, high praise, in view of the large number of vessels built for the U. S. Government.

"As the Cathay is built exactly in the same way as the Mandarin we are confident that she will give the same good results.

"We take pride in this, not only because of the excellent work we did but because by doing our best the dockyard, representing the Chinese Government, has redeemed its word to the United States to build the best ships that could possibly be constructed and that during their career the fine workmanship will stand as testimony that the confidence of the United States in this government dockyard is fully justified."

Mr. E. S. Cunningham, United States Consul-General, said in part:

"The Kiangnan Dock and Engineering Works is to be congratulated upon the launching of this the fourth vessel of its class within twelve months. It is an accomplishment that any company might be justly proud of, even those with greater experience and greater facilities for the construction of vessels of this size.

"These four vessels are the largest that have ever been constructed in China by any company. The Kiangnan company has not only the largest yards for the construction of such vessels but it has initiated a kind of work which marks a new era of shipbuilding in China.

"Back in 1918 the United States Shipping Board was looking the world over for the securing of contracts for the construction of vessels suitable for the great work in hand—the winning of the war. At that time the duration of the war was problematical, and it was necessary to look further ahead than the one year that the war actually lasted.

"You have dispelled any existing doubt and justified the claims that were made for you in the accomplishment within a very reasonable time of the construction of four of the best boats that the United States Shipping Board has had constructed outside of the United States.

"There is probably no yard in the United States that has built vessels more satisfactorily than has your company. You have inspired confidence in the minds of shipowners and those looking for the letting of contracts for the construction of vessels.

"There is no better yard than yours in China. And China boasts of none that has equal facilities to the Kiangnan dockyards. The placing of these contracts has established you permanently as a builder of big ships. The American people are glad to join in the celebration of the completion of these vessels, because of the good will that exists between the two countries.

"This contract conveys the stamp of approval of the United States government and it was given perhaps to a very large extent because of the good feeling existing between the two countries and the desire of the American government to assist in the establishment of this new industry in this country.

"The Cathay is the poetical name for China. That the good ship Cathay will carry a full cargo of good will, good feeling and international mutual affection we all know but we hope she will also carry full cargoes of products interchanged between the two countries. We hope our cargoes will contain much for development and much for manufacture that will be mutually beneficial.

"I thank the directors of this dockyard for the honor of inviting Mrs. Cunningham to sponsor the Cathay. To the directors, the engineers and everybody connected with the construction of the steamer Cathay I wish to convey our best compliments and wishes for a continuance of their success. You have established a reputation as shipbuilders in China, and in course of time you will be able to compete with the best dockyards in America and Europe. I wish all prosperity and success to the Dockyard."

All of the four new cargo carriers are 249 feet long with beam of 55 feet and depth of 37 feet 11½ inches. They are of 14,750 tons displacement and will have engines developing 3,000 horse power capable of giving the ships a minimum sea speed of ten and a half knots an hour.

Just as the Mandarin did on its trials the Celestial, which was given its trial run last Monday, exceeded all requirements. It is expected that the Celestial will sail for America and delivery to the Shipping Board in a few days.

15th Infantrymen Regret Departure Of Captain Ransom

In a notice published in The Sentinel, the paper issued by the enlisted men of the 15th U.S. Infantry at Tientsin, regret is expressed at the loss of Capt. Robert B. Ransom of 'B' Company who has been transferred to the 47th Infantry at Eagle Pass, Texas. Captain Ransom is son of Dr. S. A. Ransom and has a wide circle of acquaintances in Shanghai.

The announcement of his transfer published in The Sentinel in its issue of March 4 last is as follows:

"We wish to announce that once more "B" Company loses a good man. We regret it too, because never before have we reached such a high standing in the Regiment. We were considered a wreck when Captain Ransom joined the Company, but now we are the most talked of Company in the 15th. We mourn his loss as he has put "B" Company, his Company, on top. We envy the lucky Company that receives him next. Good luck Captain, and may you receive as many admirers in your next command."

Fancy Yourself Putting Over Chits

allow them to walk away with their goods. Larger establishments can start legal machinery to trace thefts, but the same compliance is shown by small Chinese shops where the clerk is unable to read the strange foreign characters and which would have no possible way of rediscovering the erratic purchaser. In New York, the person who presents a check even to a bank must stand by while the cashier does everything with it but taste it, interspersing his study with looks that give the humble presenter ten years for forgery. In the end he usually returns it, instructing the owner to come back with two legal witnesses, a rent receipt, and his vaccination certificate.

Even the ricsha reflects the popular trust. As a rule no bargaining is concluded before the ride. The ricsha man delivers a commodity which he cannot take back in the event of being dissatisfied with the price, and he has practically no way of redress save verbal excoriation, which loses its effect as soon as the erstwhile passenger closes the door. The ricsha coolie is absolutely at the mercy of his customer's sense of fair play—a significant contrast to the "Pay As You Enter" box that unflinchingly blocks the way of anyone riding in the ricsha's counterpart at home.

HOW IT STARTED

The genesis of the chit system was written in the early days of foreign penetration, when the coin of the realm consisted of cash built on lines similar to a doughnut and silver "sycees" constructed on the model of a small coal scuttle. As it requires ten cash to make one cent, a shopper attempting to buy a new collar would be forced to enter the store followed by a wheelbarrowful of coin or decked in enough strings of it to clothe an Oriental dancer.

Pockets in foreign clothes were never built to house silver sycee, so naturally the Western community turned to less cumbersome ways of transacting business. Precedent for the chit system was found in India, where army men hard-pressed for cash postponed settling until payday. The word itself is derived from an Indian dialect.

Development of the system was accelerated in the days when employes of foreign trading firms lived in walled "factories" and when the dangers and difficulties of leaving the compound confined most of their purchasing to drinks bought on the premises. Under the circumstances it was natural enough to permit buying on credit, and the system gradually extended itself when the compound walls were levelled. It is said that in the early days there were firms that deliberately encouraged their employes to sign chits profusely, so that they would be in debt at the end of their period of service and therefore obliged to contract for another term of years.

The great disadvantage of the chit system lies in its temptation to extravagance. Few seem to realise that when they sign a chit they actually spend money, and as a result chits shower on them at the first of the month like a stage snow-storm, most of them representing highly useless expenditures. The worldly-wise shroffs, however, are as arduous callers as ladies trying to climb into society and the bills are, as a rule, eventually met.

Though most of the residents become so accustomed to the chit that signing it is second nature to them, the general willingness to trust all sorts and conditions of men is one of the most singular features of a by no means prosaic city. Its faith in human nature is unparalleled except in dreamed of but unrealised utopias and a few religious communities which have tried to apply their creed to economics. Will Shanghai, described by misled writers at home as the plague spot of the Far East, surprise the world by being the place for the dawn of the millenium?

JAPAN'S PRINCE

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 25.—The popular interest aroused by the Japanese Crown Prince's visit to Manchester showed no sign of abatement today. After investing the Lord Mayor with the Order of the Rising Sun, he visited the great Westinghouse electrical works on the outskirts of the city, where over 7,000 workers lined up in their dinner hour and gave the Prince a tremendous reception.

Returning to the city, His Imperial Highness was entertained at a dejeuner by the Lord Mayor, when, in response to the toast of his health, he paid tribute to the placidity and courage with which the industrial troubles of Great Britain were being met. It was, he said, a great honor for him to be in England at present for men and nations showed their true worth in moments of trouble.

In the afternoon, the Crown Prince visited other works, including Armstrong's where he was presented with a model of the Kashima, which was built by that firm.

BLOODLESS COUPS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, May 26.—A series of bloodless coups d'etat has been carried out at Nikolsk-Ussurisk, Razdolnoe, Spassko and Pokrovka, where the Government militia have surrendered the authority to the anti-Bolshevik troops of General Kappel.

Harbin, May 25.—According to the Inter-Allied technical staff of the railway, the events at Nikolsk have not caused any interruption of traffic.

It is reported that the militia surrencered on terms, and then returned to their posts, armed with swords, as their rifles had been confiscated.

The Kappelites have assumed the right of censorship and the inspection of trains, and have arrested a few Communists.

Up to the present there has been no bloodshed. The Japanese Command has remained neutral.

National Economy Move In England

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 25.—An important step towards national economy has been taken by the government, which has ordered a reduction of expenditure on the supply services for the next financial year of from £603,000,000 to £490,000,000.

The treasury circular which makes this anouncement points out that the ordinary revenue for next year is not likely to exceed £950,000,000, and at least £465,000,000 must be provided to meet debt charges, leaving £485,000,000, for supply services. All departments have accordingly been instructed to subject their expenditure to searching examination.

The circular points out that the only alternatives to a reduction of expenditure are fresh borrowing which would mean renewed inflation and depression of the pound sterling) or increased taxation, which would certainly seriously hamper the recovery of British industry and commerce, and be most vehemently opposed by the House of Commons and the country.

A reduction of taxation and of the State's indebtedness as rapidly as possible is required in order to maintain and stimulate industry and commerce, and to secure full and regular employment. This can only be achieved, the circular concludes, by a continuous reduction of expenditure for the next few years.

WATCH THE FRUIT YOUR CHILDREN EAT

Whilst most ripe, sound fruits are good for children there is danger in fruit which is green, over-ripe or damaged, among the least of the evils to be feared from such fruit being acute indigestion, diarrhoea and worms.

When you have reason to suspect that your child has eaten fruit of a doubtful character the best course is to administer a dose of Baby's Own Tablets at once, for these Tablets quickly but gently cleanse the stomach and bowels, and can be given with absolute safety even to the youngest or most delicate infant.

Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, are also a specific for teething troubles, constipation, colds, and croup. They bring calm, natural, health-giving sleep and promote regular development. From chemists, or direct and post free at 60 cents the vial from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

CAPITAL INCREASED

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, May 25.—It has been decided to increase the capital of the Bank of Kwangtung to $5,000,000.

The manager of the Canton branch of the Bank of China has returned from Hongkong for the purpose of reopening the local branch of that bank.

AUSTRIAN PLANS BIRDLIKE PLANES TO BE BUILT IN U.S.

Inventor Says Pulsating Wing Will Revolutionise Aerial Flights

EXPERIMENTS A SUCCESS

American Syndicate Said To Be Back Of New Idea That Imitates Nature

London, April 22.—As the result of an offer from an American syndicate Prof. Raimund Nimfuhr, the Austrian scientist, is reported to be planning a visit to the United States accompanied by his assistant engineer, Herr Gazda, to superintend the construction of flying machines with wings, using the principle of bird flight for propelling force. The new machine has no propellers.

Prof. Nimfuhr has joined the directorate of the Nimfuhrshe Segelflug Syndikate of Holland, and Herr Schwengler, chief of the Zeppelin works, and Herr Skopik, head of the designing staff of the Fokker works, believe he is on the right track to revolutionise the whole present conception of mechanical flying.

The pulsating wing, as he calls it, promises to make aerial transportation cheaper than by rail or water.

Prof. Nimfuhr's theory is based on the propulsive methods used by birds and insects, in comparison with which airplanes with fixed wings and engine driven blade propellers are vastly inferior. He believes that if he could take a bird and increase it in size until it is as big as a medium size plane it would not exert a greater propelling force than ten horsepower.

His principle in building his machines is to imitate as far as possible the methods of nature. His wing relies on an extraordinarily rapid vibration or stroke action upon the cushion of compressed air which in flights is formed beneath the sustaining plane. The actual wing will be hollow, with a flexible membrane on the under side. By a pneumatic mechanism this membrane is set to vibrating or pulsating with such rapidity that waves of atmospheric pressure will be generated, which, he says, will not only sustain but propel the machine.

There is also a mechanism by which the extremities of the wings can be extended or contracted by pneumatic action the same as the stretching and folding of the wings of a bird. Another feature is a pneumatic stabiliser, by which any disturbance of balance will set levers in motion which, by controlling small motors, will counteract any tendency to lost equilibrium.

Pulsating wings on a large scale have already been built and tested and have proved satisfactory, according to Prof. Nimfuhr. He foresees the day when transocean craft of this design will carry several hundred passengers and will be so economical in the use of power that passengers could be carried between Europe and America cheaper than by boat.

Chauffeur Jailed For Reckless Driving

A chauffeur was sentenced to two months' imprisonment and his license was ordered taken up for five months by the special traffic court yesterday. Police Constable Harrison testified that he had seen the car standing in the middle of Ferry Road at 3 a.m. and that as he approached it the chauffeur started off at 35 miles an hour. The police officer followed on his bicycle and the car swung off the road and crashed into a tree, suffering damage which the owner, Mr. Cope, estimates at Tls. 2,000. The chauffeur and three Chinese girls were leaving the car when the constable came up and took them into custody. The defendant told the court that he was taking a houseboy to his home and said that the police whistle frightened him, causing him to swerve into the tree.

Another chauffeur was ordered to pay a fine of $50 or go to jail for 50 days for furious driving on the wrong side of Kiangwan Road. He had three previous convictions in the Mixed Court.

There were 19 motor cases before the traffic court yesterday and several involving mafoos.

One of the latter was fined $50 for reckless driving and overturning a ricsha occupied by a foreigner on Szechuen Road. He was also ordered to pay $15 to the foreigner, Mr. Gainsborough, and $5 to the ricsha coolie for damage done.

SHANGHAI CRICKETERS WIN FROM HONGKONG BY INNINGS AND 160 RUNS; PITCH SLOW

Rumjahn Is Top Score For Visitors With 34; Barrett Takes Six Wickets For 62; O'Hara Continues Good; Hongkong Second Innings Nets But 151

BY "WHISTLE"

DESPITE the unpropitious outlook yesterday morning, the weather cleared sufficiently to allow of a start being made at 3 p.m. The wicket was soft, and seemed to take a lot of work off the ball, making things fairly straight forward for the batsmen. Sayer faced O'Hara and took 1 from his first over.

Alison was bowling from the Pavilion end.

Slow Cricket was the order of the day, all the runs being singles and when 33 was reached Hansell went on vice O'Hara.

Soon after De Rome fell a victim to O'Hara, being clean bowled for 13. One for 34.

Franks joined Sayer and they carried the score to 44, Franks knocking a 4 off Hansell, then the latter was relieved by Leach, who put down a maiden.

Both bowlers were keeping runs down, 35 minutes being needed for 18 runs.

Franks began to let out and took a 2 and a 4 off O'Hara, then he survived two chances, one from an overthrow which Deeks dropped and from a catch which was just beyond O'Hara's reach.

With the score at 58. Sayer was caught in the slips by O'Hara off Leach for 31. He had batted steadily and his contribution was the second highest score of the side. 2 for 58.

Olliver joined Franks and hit his first ball to leg for 2, but the partnership was short lived, Leach knocking Frank's Middle stump out with ball at which the latter let out. 3 for 61.

Rumjahn came in next and Leach shaved his bails in the first over.

Ten runs were added when Olliver was out by a fine one handed catch by Barrett off O'Hara, for 8. 4 for 71.

Webster followed and helped the score to 78 when he was bowled by Leach for 2. 5 for 78.

Stapleton appeared and after making 1 off Leach played on to O'Hara, 6 for 79.

BAGNALL STIRS 'EM UP

The next in was Major Bagnall and his arrival was the signal for things to brighten up somewhat, he hit O'Hara to leg for 4, took 5 off Leach the next over, 5 off O'Hara, the succeeding one and another 4 and a 6 off Leach, the next. It was in this over that Muriel trying to stop a long distance one from Bagnall, had his little finger badly cut and had to retire. Sayer substituting for him.

Bagnall's stay was short and merry, after knocking up 25, he was caught in the long field by Ollerdessen off O'Hara. 7 for 107.

Davies followed and started hitting out, early surviving a chance in the long field.

At 112 Allison relieved Leach, who had been bowling finely, but had had his average spoilt by the last few overs by Bagnall after another chance to Hansell at slip Davies was bowled by O'Hara for 6. 8 for 118.

Reed then joined Rumjahn but only remained long enough to make 5 getting l.b.w. to O'Hara. 9 for 126.

The last man in was Farthing, and he and Rumjahn gave the bowlers a lot of work. At 130 Leach relieved Allison, and at 149 Wainwright relieved Leach, the last move being successful as he captured Farthing's wicket at 151.

The last partnership was steady and useful, taking the score from 126 to 151.

Rumjahn's innings was the feature of the Hongkong display. He made their top score in the match and was batting an hour and a half for his 34 which contained 5 three and 2 twos, and was a good display of sound cricket.

Filipino Athletes Reported Close To Their Manila A-1 Condition.

ROTARY CLUB HOSTS

Extends Greetings At Weekly Tiffin To Delegation Chiefs

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, May 26.—The Chinese tennis team, representing Hongkong against Shanghai, left for Shanghai on board the Empress of Asia today.

The representatives of the three countries competing in the Far Eastern Games, The Philippines, China and Japan, were extended a welcome and greeting yesterday at the regular weekly tiffin of the Shanghai Rotary Club.

Mr. John H. Gray, secretary of the China Contest committee which has the Olympic Games in charge, told the representatives of the competing countries that all arrangements for the big meet were made, and that entries showed that competition would be keen. Mr. Frank H. Brown, representing Japan; Mr. Camilo Osias, delegate of the Philippine government to the Far Eastern championships; and Dr. C. T. Wang, chairman of the Chinese committee, a member of the club, were guests of honor.

Mr. Osias spoke of the progress made in the Philippines in athletics and physical instruction. Ninety seven percent of the students in the Philippine schools, from the first primary grade to the fourth year of High School, he said were intensely engaged in physical education. The development of athletics among the Filipino school boys, he said was wonderful.

The China Tennis team from Hongkong is reported in telegram as out of Hongkong on the Canadian Pacific steamer Empress of Asia. They are due in Shanghai Saturday afternoon.

SOLDIER NINE COMING HERE FROM TIENTSIN

15th Infantry Baseball Team Sends Entry For Open Series

DOUBLE BILL ON

Shanghai Playing Both Filipinos And Huron Tomorrow

SIX baseball teams are assured now for the open baseball series of the Far Eastern Games which begins next Thursday, with the official notification received here yesterday that the crack 15th Infantry team from Tientsin is coming to Shanghai for play.

The half-dozen nines now entered in the open league are Filipinos, Shanghai, U. S. Marines, Japan, U. S. Asiatic Fleet, and the 15th Infantry. The Open Baseball series is to begin on June 2. The first day will see the Navy clashing with Japan and the Infantry team opposing the Filipinos. On June third Shanghai will mix with the winner of Infantry-Filipino match and the Marines will try conclusions with the best of the Navy-Japan game. On June 4th, the final game will be played off. All games will be played at Hongkew park.

Dr. J. H. Gray, secretary of the Open International Games Committee yesterday received a communication from Capt. Edwin T. Bowden, athletic officer of the 15th Infantry at Tientsin with all the dope concerning his team.

TO ARRIVE WEDNESDAY

The Infantry men leave Tientsin Monday morning and should reach Shanghai early Wednesday morning. They will be met at the train by a reception committee and taken to their quarters. The officers of the party will be quartered at the Columbia Country Club during their stay, and the men will be put up at the Liberty Club.

The party includes five or more officers, all ex-college players. The team as a whole, Capt. Bowden writes, is stronger than the nine that played here last summer. There are five men in this year's lineup who did not appear here in 1920.

The Infantry team's lineup puts Ferrin, catcher; Hutchinson, Bame and Canfield, pitchers; Oberkoller, 1st base; Cummings, 2nd base; Madge, 3rd base; Miller, shortstop; Hinckley, Bowden and Rattan, outfielders, and Bruce, substitute. There are five Captains in the bunch: Ferrin, University of Vermont; Hutchinson, University of Georgia; Rattan, University of Texas; Cummings, Rice Institute; and Bowden, Sewanee.

DOUBLEHEADER TOMORROW

In addition to the game tomorrow Shanghai versus the Filipino Olympic team, announced in yesterday's China Press the Civilians will take on the nine off the Flagship Huron, in a doubleheader. It was hoped originally that the Huron team could be gotten to fit into the open date on Sunday, but because of the approaching Olympic play, the Navy men, like the Filipinos, felt it wiser to rest

AMERICAN GOLF STARS DEFEATED IN BRITISH CLASSIC

Evans, Jones, Fownes And Hunter Fall By The Wayside

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 25.—An astonishing feature of the third round at Hoylake in the amateur golf championship was the defeat of the American champion, Charles Evans, by his compatriot, Fownes.

The latter was in turn defeated by another compatriot, Wright, who is now the only American left in the running.

Another noteworthy match in the third round was that wherein Bobby Jones (America), who had narrowly escaped defeat in the second round, owing to nervousness, beat Robert Harris, a player of international rank 6 up and 5 to play.

In the fourth round however, Jones succumbed to A. J. Graham (Liverpool), with the same score.

The English veteran, John Ball, who had been going strong, and won his match in the second round by 3 up and 2 to play, met Douglas (America) in the fourth round, and beat him at the 19th hole. It was in this round that Wright beat Fownes, 3 up and 2 to play.

In the fifth round, Wright beat Ball, 4 up and 3 to play, and Darwin beat Hunter (America), 2 up and 1 to play.

over Sunday. The doubleheader was the outcome.

The Shanghai men will take on the Filipino nine first at 2 p.m. and the Huron team immediately afterwards, perhaps beginning at 4 o'clock. The first game is expected to be fast, for the Filipinos are said to have a team that doesn't waste time on the diamond.

The open date on Sunday will be filled either with Huron Marines, or with a team from the Gunboats. The former aggregation are keen to play, but are short a twirler. With the speedy marine Weaver held over in rest Sunday for the Olympic play on the regular Huron nine, the Marines are left without a moundsman. The matchmakers are working on this Sunday date yet however, and it is certain that something good will be fixed up for that afternoon.

The basketball team worked out at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. The Filipinos have ten basketballers in their party, and they split these up into two fives and went to a sure-enough game. They are reported to be in "o.k." condition.

Volley ball men did not get floor space for a workout yesterday but will get to it today. Baseball players also were ruled off by the rain and they too will be given their workout today. The game tomorrow with Shanghai is counted on as the finishing off process of training.

The Filipinos have prevailed upon the harbor master to have their private yacht the Bustamente moved from the buoy anchorage off the Chinwangtao jetty, to dockside at the China Merchants Lower Wharf. They come up the river this morning at seven o'clock.

CHINA IN BASKETBALL

The North China and the East China basketball team clashed in a fast game yesterday at the Nanyang college court, the game resulting in a wide-margin win for the Northerners. The score was 43 to 13. Tyau of the Eastern team was totally smothered during the first half by the Northern guards. Both teams played hard, but the North China team was the faster. Seven hundred spectators attended the game.

The summary follows:

Baer: SAYS "BUGS"

WAS CHAMPION SHADOW BOXER

Used To Play Shadows On Wall; Favorite Silhouette Was A Running Rabbit

BY "BUGS" BAER

To the Misled Readers:

What good is a pair of suspenders without buttons? Would we have heard of Gink Fowler if it hadn't been for his sparring partner? This man was none other than Tubby Black, who was chummier than a mad wolf. He challenged Gink to a Summer fight. Winter take all. The Kaiser saw this scuffle and it gave him the idea for the World War.

Gink started out like a red hot furnace. Tubby soon turned his dust damper down, put out the fire and the janitor wheeled away Gink's ashes.

Yours until Gabriel pumps away at that slide trombone,

JOHN FREESE, Chicago.

This nonsense gets more serious every day. The champion of Roughtown had no sparring partner. He used to punch mountains and improve his footwork by sparring with the cornerstones of buildings. He pulled in the cable to Shanghai one day and skipped rope with it. He got real mad when he found the engineer of the Roughtown R. R. using his dinner plate as a turntable for locomotives.

He never jumped at conclusions. He considered work a conclusion. Therefore, he never jumped at a job. He was supported by the interest of his numerous investments in Roughtown inventions. Spotless dice were invented in Roughtown. Rungless ladders, noodleless soup and eggless omelets were also spangled ideas of that town's genius.

Tubby Black was just a backdoor hokey. Pie on the window sill was his idea of a formal dinner. He could fight in a smooth, city way. But smoothness never got you anything in Roughtown. If a boy came to school with a muddy complexion, the teacher would send him home to have his face sandpapered. Everything was rough.

Gink only made one swish at Tubby and he folded up like a trick tobacco pouch. He lasted about as long as a good resolution. Just like a moonbeam on a jumping frog's back Roughtown was the Marne of many a fighting man, but Tubby went quicker than a mushroom arrives. He was as wide open as a secret on a postal card. Gink saved enough money on that fight to ride half way home.

'Electolite'

BRITAIN'S LATEST LIGHT AND POWER PLANT

ELECTOLITE runs on Paraffin.

Patent Vaporiser affords excellent fuel economy.

Detachable Cylinder Head affords maximum accessibility.

Water-cooling is superior to air-cooling, particularly in hot climates.

4-Stroke Engine, NOT 2-Stroke.

1500 Watts continuous capacity, which is twice the output of many plants costing nearly as much.

ELECTOLITE—50 volts when lighting, 70 volts when charging. Beware of 30-volt plant, for which accessories such as lamps or domestic appliances are often difficult or impossible to obtain.

Engine stops automatically if lubricating oil is not replenished when indicated.

Mechanically governed and develops 3 h.p. at pulley.

Small electric motors can be run distant from the generator.

A touch of a switch and the Plant starts without cranking. It stops automatically when batteries are completely charged.

The meter indicates when recharging becomes necessary.

ELECTOLITE is really fool-proof.

Why bother with the filling and cleaning of evil and dangerous oil lamps, when the same oil used in ELECTOLITE enables you to switch on up-to-date electric lamps that require no attention and to use household appliances that save time and labour?

Write to-day for further information, give approximate number of lights required, and machines to be used, if any, and our Engineers will give the necessary advice regarding your installation for ELECTOLITE Electric Service.

BACON'S LORE SHOWN ON SCREE.

Drawings As Evidence He Had Telescope And Microscope In Thirteenth Century

CIPHER BEING UNRAVELED

Discoverer Tells How The Manuscript Was Traced And Found

Philadelphia, April 20.—Pictures photographed from the cipher manuscript attributed to Roger Bacon were shown on the screen here tonight before the College of Physicians and Surgeons, indicating Bacon's use of the microscope and telescope and other discoveries which died with him and were not discovered until centuries later.

The history of the manuscript from Bacon's death near the end of the thirteenth century to the present day was traced by Wilfred M. Voyaich, discoverer of the manuscript. Some of the discoveries, which Bacon supposedly hid from the world for fear of renewed persecution as a necromancer, were discussed by Dr. William Romaine Newbold of the University of Pennsylvania, who discovered the key to the manuscript and had succeeded in deciphering a small part of it.

Drawings by Bacon of cells invisible to the naked eye of the markings of heavenly bodies discernible only by telescope were exhibited on the screen, to prove that Bacon had discovered the secret of powerful magnification by the conjunction of lenses. The microsope and telescope were reinverted more than three centuries later, and there is some evidence that the inventors were inspired by published writings of Bacon suggesting how such instruments could be made.

One of the drawings of a heavenly body which was found in the manuscript was a representation of the great nebula Andromeda, one of the two nebulae barely visible to the naked eye. It is a faint, pale glow to the naked eye. The drawing, however, showed that Bacon had seen it through a telescope and correctly pictured its form. The nebula is supposed to be a solar system in embryo. The sun, earth and other planets and sattelites, for instance, are supposed to have been whirling masses of vapor, which condensed into whirling fluid and then further condensed into the globes now swimming through space.

SOLUTION OF BACON'S KEY

After discussing Bacon's known history and developing the theory that Bacon wrote the cipher manuscript for fear of persecution, Dr. Newbold continued:

"To guard against the possibility of any essential feature of the complex system being forgotten, he wrote upon the last page a condensed key giving oral instructions for its use, and now, after the lapse of six centuries, there is reason for believing that his expectations may be realised and his discoveries proclaimed to an interested world.

"What were those discoveries? At present it is possible only to conjecture their extent and importance, for the art of reading the cipher is yet in only its earliest stages, and it is not certain that the whole manuscript can be read. A study of the drawings alone, however, proves their importance.

"The manuscript falls into four divisions, dealing, respectively, with plants, the heavenly bodies, the generation of animal life and the preparation of drugs. The common link connecting all four is probably Bacon's interest in the prolongation of human life. Plants are discussed because of their medicinal properties; the stars because they determine a man's character at his birth and influence him throughout life; embryology because of the bearing upon later life of all factors influencing conception, and pharmacology because drugs are essential to the cure of disease.

"The evidence for certain discoveries is found in the drawings of the second and third sections.

"A drawing in the second section, the late Professor Eric Doolittle asserted, was a drawing of a nebula, and he declared the man who drew it must have had a telescope, as he correctly depicted features invisible to the naked eye. The legend attached to this picture says the object was seen in a concave mirror and gives its location in the sky. The location is that of the great nebula of Andromeda.

"This is the first record of the use of the telescope.

"The embryological section contains thirty-one drawings. As a rule they are symbolic, for Bacon was unwilling to draw objects recognisable by the casual observer.

USE OF MICROSCOPE SHOWN

"But there are drawings which so accurately portray the actual appearance of certain objects that it is difficult to resist the inference that Bacon had seen them with his microsope. It is possible that the decipherment of the text may reveal unsuspected meanings in the pictures, but at present the interpretation I have up upon them seems obvious. Such are the spermatazoa, the body cells and the semniferous tubes, the ova, with their nuceli distinctly indicated.

"There are nine large drawings of which one at least bears considerable resemblance to a certain stage of development of a fertilised cell. The other eight may have similar significance, but they cannot at present be interpreted.

"The spermatozoa were not again seen after Bacon until they were rediscovered by Hamm and Leeuwenhock. It seems impossible to doubt that Bacon was the first to discover these important structures.

"The symbolic significance of the drawings is as yet but imperfectly understood. It relates in large part to Bacon's belief that the soul lived in the stars before birth and returned to the stars after death. There are some drawings which possibly express symbolically the multiplication of cells by fusion and the fertilisation of the ovum by union with the spermatazoa, but these interpretations are uncertain and are expressed with reserve."

Wilfred M. Voynich, who discovered the Bacon manuscript in cipher in a castle in Southern Europe, said he was compelled to peruse the biographies of several hundred persons in his research for light upon the manuscript. Their lives, he said, passed through a veritable sieve of one which, he said, "proved to be a real nugget." That was the life of John Dee.

"Shakespeare," said Mr. Voynich, "says of Dee that he had volumes which he prized more than dukedom, and calls him Prospero, but in every day life he was Dr. Dee a very romantic and mysterious personage."

Further researches made by Mr. Voynich showed him that Dee devoted a great part of his life to the study of Bacon's works and dissemination of Bacon's teachings, publication of his treaties, sponsoring the appearance of others and encouraging students who were likely to profit by a knowledge of Bacon's works, the discoverer asserted.

INFLUENCE; FRANCIS BACON

"Among the persons who were influenced by Roger Bacon through the medium of John Dee," continued Mr. Voynich, "was the great English philosopher, Sir Francis Bacon. Dee, while still a young man, probably around the year 1547, was able to obtain possession of numerous manuscripts of the pen of Roger Bacon, among them even such treatises of Bacon which have not come down to us, and the cipher manuscript which I fortunately unearthed.

"Sir Francis Bacon visited the library of Dr. Dee in 1582, when he was but 21 years old. It was shortly after this visit that Sir Francis Bacon started the preparation of his work on 'The Instauration of Philosophy.'"

Mr. Voynich declared that it is through Dee maiuly that the works of Roger Bacon have lived through the centuries since his death, and he suggested that further investigation into the archives of the family of the Duke of Northumberland may throw new light on the identity of the immediate pupils of Bacon and those groups of scholars who in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries secretly studied the work of Roger Bacon and secretly infiltrated into the work of contemporary writers, his ideas and philosophers.

The speaker told of his discovery of the Bacon manuscript in a chest in a castle in Southern Europe. A large part of the precious collection, of which the Bacon manuscript was a part, he brought to America in 1912. The manuscripts, he said, originally formed a part of the private collections of the Dukes of Parma, Ferrera, Modena and other now extinct ruling houses in Italy.

He said he believed that in the eighteenth century the Bacon manuscript was in the possession of a member of the family of the Duke of Parma, coming about 1680 either as a gift or otherwise from the celebrated Jesuit scholar, Athansius Kircher. Documentary evidence, asserted Mr. Voynich, showed that Kircher received the manuscript as a gift in 1666 from a friend, Marcus Marci, one time President of the University of Prague. Apparently Marci had the precious treatise in his possession from the year 1644, he said.

"The name of the preceding owner," Mr. Voynich went on, "remains a mystery, but the manuscript contains the autograph of a famous botanist and director of the Emperor Rudolph's alchemical laboratory, Jacobus Horeicky de Tepenecz, who is thought to have received the manuscript from the Emperor after 1608. Tepenecz died in 1622.

"A contemporary courtier, Dr. Raphael Missowsky, relates that Emperor Rudolph had rewarded the messenger carried this manuscript to him with 600 imperial golden ducats, an enormous sum for that period."

Through very intricate and elaborate investigation Mr. Voynich declared he came to the conclusion that it was Dr. Dee, well-known mathematician and confidential agent of Queen Elizabeth, who brought this Bacon cipher manuscript to Emperor Rudolph some time between the years 1584 and 1588.

MRS. LYDIG HOYT JOINS THE MOVIES

Ennui Drives Society Leader To Become A Satellite Of Norma Talmadge

PRESS GETS DETAILS

Husband's Objections Overcome By Plea That Society Was 'Driving Her Mad'

New York, April 22.—Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, one of the ranking matrons of New York society is going into the movies. Not as a playtime diversion, but as a serious career. Mrs. Hoyt intends to devote herself to the screen, according to announcement last night by Miss Beulah Livingston. Miss Livingston is Mrs. Hoyt's manager in the venture. She also is press representative for the Norma Talmadge Film Corporation and it is in support of Miss Talmadge that Mrs. Hoyt will appear in her first picture, as a sort of novitiate, before she is starred on her own account.

It was Miss Livingston who told last night of the forthcoming venture of another society woman into a professional career and of a keen competition between the speaking stage and the pictures for a recruit whose vivacity, charm and conspicuous success in amateur theatricals as well as her commanding position socially were expected to make her a stunning success in the most popular form of dramatics.

Ennui was the deciding factor that determined Mrs. Hoyt to forsake the arduous duties of a social leader, or at least to relegate them to a part subordinate to a new profession, according to Miss Livingston, who added that it was only recently that Mrs. Hoyt had succeeded in overcoming her husband's opposition to the radical change in her activities.

HUSBAND'S OBJECTIONS

Mr. Hoyt, scion of an old Knickerbocker family, Yale graduate, clubman and former Deputy Police Commissioner, at first was set against the departure of his wife from her wonted sphere, but at last she persuaded him, Miss Livingston said, that the eternal round was "driving her mad." No longer could she stand motoring to Piping Rock for luncheon, motoring somewhere else for bridge or tea or both, entertaining formally at dinner, rushing forth to the opera or the play or a ball, retiring in the small hours and getting up to do it all over again.

For several years she had tried to vary the monotony with appearances on the amateur stage, in which she always played a leading part and always scored a real success. Her dash, her adaptability to a variety of roles, her lithe grace, her slim figure with dark hair and eyes and pale complexion, her genius for making herself a lovely picture in the most striking gowns won her such easy success with audiences of her own kind that she could not resist the temptation to pit her ability against more widely critical and less personally friendly audiences.

Only recently in the costume of a Sixteenth Century Princess, she had charmed a Junior League gathering, only to move it to keen mirth a bit later when she did a cowboy dance.

Again to prove her own versatility she had adopted from the vaudeville stage the difficult musical saw and had drawn real harmony from it to the admiration of her playfellows.

And at last she became convinced that no longer could she resist the temptation to do it all in earnest and see what came of it.

Just recently Mrs. Hoyt returned from Boston after having sat for a portrait by Sargent. Nearly every famous painter in America and in Europe at one time or another has applied his brush to the task of depicting the woman generally known as one of America's real beauties and that, too, had palled upon her as a diversion.

MISS LIVINGSTON GETS BUSY

It was just then that gossip of Mrs. Hoyt's restlessness, of the imminence of her casting her lot with stagefolk, reached Miss Livingston. So she hastened to see her, to lay before all the opportunities for quick success, world-wide admiration and fabulous returns that the screen offered its favorites.

Mrs. Hoyt was won from her first inclination to the legitimate drama. She signed a contract making Miss Livingston her manager and Miss Livingston, she said, then undertook negotiations between her new "star" and Joseph M. Schenck, husband of Norma Talmadge and producer of her films.

The result was a contract which commits Mrs. Hoyt only to a picture or two in support of Miss Talmadge. The first will be in an adaptation of Trimble Bradley's "A Wonderful Thing" in which Jeanne Eagles starred last Winter. Miss Talmadge will star in the picture version and Mrs. Hoyt will play the second part, that of Mrs. Truesdale. The film will be made in the Talmadge studio in East Forty-eighth Street.

As soon as Mrs. Hoyt learns screen makeup and masters the difference between acting on the spoken stage and before the camera, Miss Livingston intends to star in a picture of her own. What it will be and under what auspices, Miss Livington said had not been determined.

Yunnan Willing To Attack Kwangsi

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, May 25.—According to the Hongkong Daily Telegraph, it is stated that the military authorities at Canton have received advices from Yunnan to the effect that the Yunnan authorities are willing to attack Kwangsi on the West, and to give all possible assistance to the Kwangtung army.

It is also reported that the Commander-in-chief of the Kwangsi forces at Wuchow has received a representative from General Chen Chiung-ming. After consultation it was agreed to negotiate a truce, and a military conference will be held later at Canton to decide the matter.

Hongkong, May 26.—It is reported from Wuchow that the distance between the opposing Kwantung and Kwangsi forces is fifteen li. Another report says that fighting has already begun.

There are at present only between sixty and seventy members of Parliament in Canton, most of the others having gone up north.

Lady Astor Amuses House Of Commons

London, April 22.—Lady Astor provided the House of Commons with an amusing half hour today when she criticised the Licensing bill, introduced by Colonel Gretton, which would have the effect of increasing the hours of sale for alcoholic liquors.

It was noticed that as soon as Lady Astor rose to speak Colonel Gretton left the Chamber, whereupon she expressed regret that he should think fit to run away from her.

She said that the political influence of the brewers in the country was not so great as it used to be. It reminded her, she declared, of the soldier who said, "The poor old Kaiser ain't what he used to be." She declared the proposed bill threatened the home of every woman in the country, and when there was some interruption, she said:

"Do listen, I am not long-winded. I may be rude, but I am not long-winded."

Rug Makers Face Depressed Market

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, May 20.—Chinese rug manufacturers may have to face a depressed market this fall and winter in America. Market reports from Washington tell of rug and carpet price reductions ranging from 20 percent to 28 percent. These reductions are on domestic goods but the prices on Chinese rugs have also fallen. The prices just after the war were inflated and the margin of profit between the producer and the consumer was said to be exhorbitant. All prices in America are declining steadily, according to reports, with the possible exception of wire nails and railroad rails.

The United States Steel Corporation has just ordered reductions averaging $7 a ton. If the rails come down later, China will have a chance to even up her commercial average for new rails are constantly needed for extension and repairs of the railroads.

LACE IS LIKED FOR DRESSES IN PARIS

Used To Adorn Hats And For Hosibry, Gowns And Even Underwear

Paris, April 16.—Back to the days of our grandmothers when filmy laces instead of beaded novelties formed fashion's chief delight. That is the slogan of the French lace industry, which is commencing a campaign of propaganda in an effort to reduce the stocks on hand, which have been growing steadily since the armistice, with only a few important orders to relieve the financial strain. W. M. Butler, head of a Calais syndicate, confirms the reports that only few American buyers have taken advantage of the low prices and that a systematic effort must be made to make laces more desirable or the industry is doomed.

"Right now we are selling for less than we paid for the material," says Mr. Butler, "rather than have a total loss chalked up against us. But if the United States would set the fashion it would not be long before Germany, Italy and even France would follow suit."

For, the summer season the beauty and coolness of lace adorned headwear is being emphasised, while some of the flimsiest hand woven hosiery certainly should bid well against the costly silk stockings for American favor.

Lace gowns are to be seen more frequently in Paris ball rooms than silk and gold creations and undoubtedly the movement will reach American dressmakers. But the biggest offer of the Calais industry to interest women is the fact that for dainty undergarments lace actually is cheaper than anything to be found on the Paris fashion mart.

Peking Job Holders To Start Work At 8

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, May 21.—Government employes will do their work in the cool of the morning from now until the beginning of the fall season, Premier Chin Yun-peng having ordered the earlier business hours today. Feverish anxiety over Cabinet changes and the energy spent in talking over rumors and prospects is said to have caused some of the employes to suffer from the spring heat. They will now discuss their rumors in the afternoons when their official work is done.

All those employed in cabinet offices will get to work at 8 o'clock, according to the new order. Premier Chin was at his desk early today and when the various employes straggled in he gave them a brief address and announced the change in the hours. He said that with many new officials taking hold of Government work and with the many problems the Cabinet had to solve, it was necessary for all to put their shoulders to the wheel. He urged them all to be diligent and to be loyal to the Government which would soon make marked headway in its many tasks.

Germans Threaten Reprisals On Danes

Charge Mistreatment Of Nationals, Which Danish Minister Denies And Invites Inquiry

Copenhagen, April 21.—German newspapers lately have sharply criticised the official Danish attitude toward Germans residing temporarily in Danish Schleswig and other parts of Denmark. Today's issue of the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung contains a pointed attack threatening reprisals on Danes living in Germany.

Svening Rytter, the Minister of Justice, declared today that there had been no instance of attacks on Germans and that the Danish authorities were willing to have the matter investigated.

"The Danish authorities," he said, "must insist that Germans who settled in Denmark after 1919 like other foreigners, comply with police regulations and obtain the necessary permits for their stay in Denmark. The Danish attitude in this matter is identical with that of other nations, and if Germany will only follow the same principles we employ toward Germans, Danes living in Germany will have no need to fear unpleasant experiences."

Copenhagen, April 21.—The Pan-German paper Schleswigsch Grenspost for a long time has carried on a campaign about alleged expulsions of Germans from Denmark. In each case the Germans were proved to be vagabonds, thieves or other criminals.

The meeting finished with an appeal to form labor committees in all concerns in the country.

An Announcement Of A Rich Collection Of Curios For Sale

A rich collection of curios is open for exhibition in my residence. It contains more than two hundred articles, of which the most antique Bronzes are ascertained to range from Shang and Chow Dynasties to that of the Two Hans, and the porcelains from Peh Soong to the beginning of the Tsin Dynasty. They are all well preserved pieces, real and fine. Regarding the genuineness, it has been verfied either by authentic ancient books or by inscriptions as well as initials thereon. None of them is questionable as to its age, designs, markings, etc.

In addition to the Bronzes and Porcelains, there are also wide varieties of valuable Carvings in wood, bamboo, and precious stones, also natural Fossils, Inter-Stones, Tanshi Stones, and Chrysanthemum Stones, etc. Most of these articles are magificent masterpieces of ancient fine art as identified in themselves, and already encased in beautiful artistic casing so as to facilitate transportation at any time.

Due to the successive disturbances in the province, and the recent irregular financial conditions in general, the proprietors of this collection are willing to offer their highly esteemed treasure for cash. Now I take the liberty to introduce the same collection to any Chinese or foreign connoisseur who is prepared to take same over at a favorable price.

Those interested in the matter of inspection are requested to apply to Chen Wan Shian Tan, No. 4 Shu Day Tze Kow, Changsha, Hunan, by notifying me in advance, so that I will have the honor of welcoming their esteemed visits at a specified time.

ABC
OUR correspondent and stockholding bank in San Francisco has a history which goes back to the pioneer days of California. It is the successor of two old English banks, the Anglo-California and the London, Paris and American Bank, both pioneers in the exchange banking field. The Anglo and London Paris National Bank, successor to the two older banks, took a leading position on the West Coast and now enjoys the distinction of being the largest national bank in point of deposits in any city west of Chicago and St. Louis.
This is one of the great American banks which are stockholders in the Asia Banking Corporation.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

May 26, 1921

Spot bar silver was down 1/8d. and forward unchanged in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 58⅛ cents and the London-New York cross rate declined to 394½. The official rates here today were unchanged from yesterday with the exception of the Gold Dollar rate which was raised to 63.

The market was firm throughout the day. While at the opening business in Sterling was done at 3/3¼ and in Gold Dollars at 64¾, at the close there were good sellers of Sterling at 3/5½ to 3/3⅝ and of Gold Dollars at 65¼ to 65½.

A fair business was again done in Francs and Marks, Franc business being done at rates between 730 and 750.

Our local money market seems to be coming firmer and the premium that had to be paid for Gold Exchange for near delivery has practically disappeared. In fact today there were better sellers for near delivery than for forward.

No advices have been received from abroad as to the London silver market but it would appear to be quiet and steady.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in their exchange circular for week ending Wednesday, May 25:

Exchange.—The London price of Silver has ruled unsteady during the week. The last quotation received 33⅜d. is ⅜d. lower than last week. The Silver Markets and our Exchange Market appear to be influenced by a speculative "bull" movement in Silver, which as far as China is concerned the balance of trade does not justify. With regard to the home silver markets, it is difficult to gather whether there are any genuine buyers of silver which appears to be offering in fair quantities from the Continent and of which we gather stocks are accumulating in America. Locally, Exports remain dull and a fair demand for Gold remittances continues. At the close our Exchange Market was steady with very little business passing.

Sycee and Bar Silver, Tls. 39,070,000 Unchanged.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars, $37,000,000 Unchanged.

Estimated value in Taels Tls. 65,710,000 as against Tls. 59,710,000 held at this time last year.

Offered: 1,621,979 lbs. (about 724 tons).

Sold: 1,110,478 lbs. (about 496 tons).

During the past week the London market has shown slight signs of improvement, but a decline soon after set in, bringing prices down near their previous level.

At the auctions the demand was fairly good with values practically unchanged on the week. 724 tons were offered and 495 tons found buyers.

No lots of Awarded Standard Ribbed Smoked Sheet were sold as sellers withdrew their lots owing to buyers' low limits.

Sheet equal to Standard was wanted and fetched fair prices.

Off Quality Sheet met with only a moderate demand.

No sales of Awarded First Latex Crepe took place.

Crepe equal to Standard sold from 30½ to 32 cents.

Off Color Latex found ready buyers at comparatively high prices.

Fine Brown Crepe advanced about 1 cent.

Brown, Dark and Barky Crepes were in good demand.

At the continuation this morning the tone of the market was easier.

N. B.—The above prices for Standard Quality Sheet and Crepe are only paid for small lots at the auctions, whereas bigger quantities in the outside market generally fetch from 1 cent to 1½ above these figures.

The Anglo-Japanese Alliance

IN yesterday's CHINA PRESS appeared the following Reuter cablegram:

London, May 24.—A member of the Crown Prince of Japan's suite, in an interview, said that His Imperial Highness considers the Anglo-Japanese Alliance Japan's most valuable asset outside her shores.

That the Crown Prince has hit the nail on the head in making this utterance will not be doubted by any student of Far Eastern affairs. The Anglo-Japanese Alliance apparently is one of those flexible agreements that can be twisted and stretched in any direction, that can be violated or broken at will and that change their sails to fit every political breeze. It is a most remarkable document. It has one meaning to Great Britain and twenty meanings to Japan. Only the other day we quoted Robert Young, editor of The Japan Chronicle as saying:

> The only alternative is the abrogation of the Alliance. The agreement has failed utterly in its avowed objects. It has failed to preserve the independence of Korea, to maintain the integrity of China, or preserve the open door. It now threatens the relations between America and Britain, without improving the relations between America and Japan, and its abrogation is more likely to make for the maintenance of peace than its continuance.

The question naturally arises: Is the British Empire in such straits that it must continue to renew an alliance in which it does not see eye to eye with the other party? An alliance to the terms of which the other party has paid not the slightest heed: and which is against its best interests, not only in the case of America, but in the cases of Canada, Australia India, China and Russia? The countries named are Pacific and Far Eastern and they are all against this alliance. Their best interests are at stake. Is their opinion worth nothing to London?

Yet we find Premier Hughes of Australia, now in London to attend the Conference of Premiers, stating that while this alliance is anathema to America it is necessary to the defense of Australia! We cannot follow his reasoning. Does he fear that America would, on any grounds imaginable, send a fleet of battleships eight or ten thousand miles, to bombard his cities and people? Or does he fear that if the alliance is broken the Japanese, aware of the might of the Pacific navy, will set out to do it? Premier Hughes does not fear either fleet. He knows that the American fleet wouldn't and that the Japanese fleet couldn't. And where are the other fleets he professes to fear?

The Japanese Crown Prince is right. This alliance is an asset, the greatest asset, of his empire. It is not an asset of the British Empire. It is distinctly a liability. Failing this alliance the Japanese would not have Korea today; they would not have shut the Manchurian door, they would not have Shantung, they would not have made the infamous twenty-one demands of 1915, and they would not be in Siberia today.

According to telegrams which we publish today, the Japanese, backing a small mixed force of Kappelites, have again seized Vladivostok, Gen. Kappel, we believe, has been dead for some-time. A year or so ago the remnant of his troops was driven out of Siberia by the Red guards, and disarmed by the Chinese. It now reappears re-armed, equipped, moneyed and munitioned. By whom? Certainly not by the Chinese. And by this action, and by the incidents at Nikolsk and Anuchine, which are only short distances out of Vladivostok, Japan violates another treaty, the one which she made on April 29 of last year with the Chita Government. She has for the matter of that violated it every day since she made it.

Yet we find in today's dispatches, the aristocratic Morning Post, of London, advocating the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance along the lines suggested by Premier Hughes. Any renewal of it is objectionable and indefensible.

The other side of the picture: The Senate of the United States by unanimous vote, inviting Great Britain and Japan to a conference on naval disarmament. What chance is there of an agreement on disarmament, which the whole world wants, so long as Britain and Japan remain Allies?

THE NINTH MAN

The Ninth Man. By Mary Heaton Vorse. Illustrated by Frank Craig. New York: Harper and Brothers.

Back to the days of feudalism in medieval Italy, when every community was a kingdom unto itself, ceaselessly warring against every surrounding kingdom Mary Heaton Vorse conducts the reader of "The Ninth Man," her most recent novel.

The author paints a picture of that georgeous age which makes us glad to have been born in this prosaic twentieth century. For on the first page we find ourselves captives in the little town of San Moglio and utterly at the mercy of the dashing swashbuckler, Egidio Mazzaleone, who has just taken the town at the point of the sword. The lean conqueror, wearied of the sameness of massacres, has issued for his amusement the sardonic decree that at the end of thirty days he would take of the conquered "this and no other toll of blood: Each ninth man shall designate secretly whom he wishes put to death in the public place. Thus shall San Moglio judge San Moglio."

Truly a situation rife with drama that stabs the imagination! And the author handles masterfully the portrayal of the confusion of emotions Egidio Mazzaleone brought sweeping over the captured city for his entertainment by scattering broadcast among the populace the powers of life and death.

In the end the stricken city is redeemed by Brother Agnello, "the least of all things: the youngest of the Brothers Minor," who loved naught in this world save his fellowmen and the compassionate Lord Christ. With the city's deliverance in the last line of the book the reader comes back to the room around him with much the same feeling that he would awake from a stirring dream.

The story is illustrated with four excellent drawings by Frank Craig, two of them in full color.

NEW TESTS FOR ATHLETES

Northwestern University Plans a Unique System of Examination

Evanston, Ill., April 22.—Surprise tests of heart, lungs and other internal organs of athletes, as well as frequent physical tests for students not engaged in working for varsity teams, will be the rule beginning next Fall at Northwestern University, if plans being worked out by Director of Athletics Dana M. Evans are adopted by the faculty. By surprise tests is meant that the athlete will be examined at irregular intervals under all sorts of conditions, at one time immediately after a strenuous workout; at another after a period of rest.

If the results of the innovation are as illuminating as Director Evans believes they will be, medical authorities say that a long step forward will have been taken in the matter of estimating a man's physical fitness for athletics and one that will be followed by all other American colleges.

The trouble with much so-called physical education of the present day, in the opinion of Director Evans, is that it is either overdone or underdone, and this because the person in charge of the training is not aware of the changes which exercise has brought about in the subject. If these changes are known, then the training can be properly regulated, and it cannot be properly regulated otherwise.

"More and more I am coming to the opinion," says the man who is planning the new system, "that if physical culture is to be permanently serviceable as an upbuilder of future generations, and if it is to make a lasting contribution to civilisation, we must regulate it within proper limitations. We must not turn out stars who die before forty of so-called 'athletic heart,' nor must we follow an idle or dilly-daily policy."

The Bible In 'American'

The High Literary Quality of the King James Bible probably insures its permanent position as the standard Protestant translation of the Christian Scriptures, says The Literary Digest. Nevertheless, it has long been fully realised by Biblical scholars that the somewhat obsolete phraseology of the Authorised Version and faulty translation of some passages hide the actual meaning of important parts of the Bible text. So we have had later translations of the Bible to remedy these defects. The door once open, a number of revisers have appeared who seem to think that the book that has comforted and inspired the workman and peasant through the centuries must be done over into the language of the street in order to be intelligible. Some of these have been free-and-easy renderings of one of the revised versions, but others have been produced after a study of the original texts. Mr. Ford's Dearborn Independent, which considers itself something of an authority on Hebrew documents, informs us that while all of these translations throw an interpretative light upon the more obscure passages of the Authorised Version, they are, nevertheless, largely efforts of British scholars. The writer in the Michigan paper, therefore, calls our attention to a modern translation by an American scholar, Rev. Frank Schell Ballantine's "The American Bible," the New Testament portion of which is completed and the Old Testament partially done. It should be added here that an elaborate American translation is in process of preparation which is to be called the "Concordant Version." The impression made upon the casual reader by Mr. Ballantine's translation is said to be that of "clarification without vulgarisation," although, of course, all may not agree with this estimate. "He preserves the literary forms which have been made familiar to the American Bible-reading public by Professor Moulton's 'Modern Reader's Bible.'" But above all he is credited with giving "to people unskilled in the ancient languages a clear impression of how unconventional was the original speech of the Book. The New Testament was written in the speech of the plain people, and one risk which a really fresh and true translation runs today is that of having its plainness mistaken for irreverent freedom on the part of the translator. But the translator may be only reproducing in the equivalent of our speech what the New Testament said in the street speech of the first century." A few excerpts from the Ballantine translation will serve to give the flavor of it. For instance, the first chapter of the Book of Genesis begins like this: "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. Now the earth was an empty waste;
And darkness was on the surface of the deep;
But the Mind of God was at work on the surface of the waters."

In the old version, the fourth verse of the first chapter of Mark reads: "John did baptize in the wilderness, and preached the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins." In the Ballantine version it reads: "John the Cleaner came in the wilderness, proclaiming the cleaning a change of mind brings by effecting release from misdeeds." The preface of St. Luke's gospel runs thus:

"My Dear Theophilus:

"Many have undertaken to write a narrative of what has happened among us. In doing this they have followed the account of those eye-witnesses and servants of the word from the beginning who delivered them to us. So having traced the course of everything accurately from the first, it seemed good to me also to write you in due order, that you might know the certainty of what you were taught by word of mouth."

We read further in the Dearborn Independent article:

"In this version the familiar 'Behold!' becomes the plain every-day 'Listen!'

"The expression 'He spake unto them this parable' becomes the plain 'He gave them this illustration.'

"The term 'tribute money' becomes in plain English 'the two-dollar Temple tax.'

"There are certain clarifications of assistance to the careful reader of the Bible, such as that found in translating John 12:49, where Christ is reported as saying, 'For I have not spoken of myself; but the Father which sent me, he gave me a commandment what I should say and what I should speak.'

"The italicised words are redundant. They seem to repeat the same idea. . . . In the American Bible the italicised clauses read thus: 'What to say and how to talk about it.'"

An example of clarity without any sacrifice of the form which has become classic is somewhat timely for this after-Easter season. It is a translation of St. Paul's discussion of the resurrection of the dead in the fifteenth chapter of First Corinthians:

"But some one will say: How are the dead going to be raised?
And with what kind of body are they going to come?
You foolish fellow!
What you, yourself, sow does not spring into life, unless it dies.
And what you sow, is not the future body,
But bare grain,
It may be of wheat,
Or of some other kind.
But God gives it a body just as he sees fit,
And to each of the seeds its own body.
Not every kind of flesh is the same.
But there is one kind peculiar to men,
Another peculiar to beasts,
Another to birds,
Another, to fishes.
There are also bodies peculiar to the heavens,
And bodies peculiar to the earth.
But the brightness of the heavenly bodies is one thing,
And that of the earthly bodies another.
The sun has its brightness,
The moon has its,
The stars have theirs,
For star differs from star in brightness.
It is the same, also, with the resurrection of the dead.
It is sown in a state of corruption.
It is raised in a state of incorruption.
It is sown in an offensive condition.
It is raised in a condition of preeminent dignity.
It is sown in a state of weakness.
It is raised in a state of power.
It is sown a natural body.
It is raised a spiritual body.
If there is a natural body,
There is also a spiritual body.
And so it is written:
The first man, Adam, became a living soul.
The last Adam, a life-giving spirit.
Yet the spiritual is not first,
But the natural, and then the spiritual.
The first man is from the earth, and made of earth.
The second man is from heaven.
As is he who is made of earth,
Such are those also who are made of earth.
And as is he who is of heavenly origin,
Such are those also who are of heavenly origin.
And as we have borne the image of him who is made of earth,
We shall also bear the image of him who is of heavenly origin."

PICTURE PARS

Are leading movie actors and actresses too well paid?

Do they really earn their gigantic salaries?

Does Charlie Chaplin get his million dollars a year—and do the best known of English players draw their £400 to a £1,000 a week?

If they do, it looks as if trouble is in store for them. One reads that American producers are of opinion that the salaries they have been paying are now altogether out of the question.

The excitement of early experimental days, when nothing was too big to offer those whose names adorned the top lines on the placards, seem to have passed, with the result that players like Emily Stevens, Lilian Gish, Mae Murray, Virginia Pearson, Lilian Walker and Emmy Whelan are idle or engaged in pointing out to producers that they are worth a good deal more than the figure on the offered contract.

Miss Emily Stevens hasn't been screened for over a year. Mae Murray says: "Motion picture producers will make a great mistake if they do not continue their operations on broad and liberal lines."

THE MODERN VILLAIN

One well known English director affirms that the old type of villain is played out. In future pictures he will keep the fans guessing, half believing that the villain is the leading juvenile until he shows his hand.

"That," says the director, "is how characters appear to us in real life—without any labels on."

COLD LOVE-MAKING

Making love at thirty-two degress below zero is the hardest task Edward Earle had ever been called upon to perform.

This happened in the Yukon recently, where the love scenes for his latest film were photographed amid driving snow. The snow lay about six feet thick in many places, and it was so softly packed that every time the players took a step they sank down to their knees in it. The arm that encircled the heroine was "dead" and felt like a ton of lead to its owner. Yet when the film reaches the screen, audiences will smile and sigh over the sweet sentiment of the love scenes.

TARZAN IN REAL LIFE

In a wolf hunt in which over a thousand farmers and others took part, a youthful hunter named Grant Pitcher distinguished himself by strangling the savage beast with his bare hands.

In this, the first wolf-kill for thirty years, firearms and dogs were not allowed, the hunters arming themselves with clubs, pitchforks, and wagon spokes.

There was a great gathering five miles from Champaign to carry out the death sentence on the animals that had taken small stock from most of the farms in the county. Farmers arrived in motor cars, bringing with them their wives and children, and being provided with luncheon baskets.

The men lined up on four sides of a great area, and at a signal from motor horns they converged upon a wheat field. Scrambling over hedges and dashing through ditches they got near the field, when suddenly there was a cry, "There he is, boys, by that old haystack; a great grey-blue devil. Come on everybody."

Grant Pitcher was the first to get there. He dived into a clump of underbush, and a prairie wolf, larger than a full-grown Airedale, leaped out, snarling viciously. Pitcher hurled his wagon spoke, and this, catching the beast on the flank, sent him sprawling.

The youth then leapt forward and, seizing the wolf's throat with his bare hands, strangled him. Next he swung the beast over his head and brought him with a crash to the ground, breaking his back.

Alexandria is the chief seaport of Egypt and for over a thousand years from its foundation (B. C. 332) was the capital of the country.

The building of Cairo in 969, and, above all, the discovery of the route to the East by the Cape of Good Hope in 1498, nearly ruined its commerce, and the canal which supplied it with Nile water, became blocked.

It owes its modern renascence solely to Mehemet Ali, Pasha and Viceroy of Egypt, who ruled the country from 1811 to 1849.

It was at the battle of Alexandria, March 1801, between the French and British that the 28th (Gloucestershire Regiment) won for itself the distinction of wearing badges both at the front and at the back of their head-dress, as both the front and rear ranks were simultaneously engaged having to bear the brunt of the French attack.

On 10th August, 1882, a British military expedition landed at Alexandria the sequel being the occupation of the whole country.

Britain's New Battle Ships

Can The Ship Of 1921 Resist The Airplane Of 1924?

BY ADM. SIR PERCY SCOTT

(Sir Percy Scott, one of the greatest experts on naval gunnery, contributed to the London Evening Standard of April 6 the following criticism of the Admiralty's decision to lay down four new capital ships.)

The designs of the under-water protection of the four ships that we are to build are now decided on, and when once the ships are commenced their designs cannot be materially altered. The battleship's bottom is the first part of her that is started on, so it is the oldest part of her when she is completed.

The four ships will probably not be completed until the spring of 1924.

I and many others interested in the under-water attack of battleships, and the attack on them from the air, pretty well know what the under-water protection of the four ships will consist of, and we believe that the weapons of today would defeat it and that we could sink these ships.

If the weapons of today are not good enough to sink these ships, we have, at any rate, three years to invent and perfect devices that will sink them. The poor battleship—"her death is predicted before she is even born."

It has been decided to build four battleships. The cost, with the accessories, will, I should think, come to somewhere between 50 and 100 millions. The taxpayer is now committed to pay that sum unless we can get the capital ship lunatics into an asylum.

The decision arrived at is contrary to a very wide naval opinion and it is of such vital importance to our Empire that I venture to ask your permission to classify and enumerate the arguments put forward in support of the building of these ships.

In reviewing the question the taxpayers must bear in mind that the battleships brought into use in 1924 will have been built on our idea of what a battleship ought to be in 1920; the 1920 ideas may be obsolete in 1924—the taxpayer can take it from me that they will be.

The weapons, to attack the battleship may only have been invented in 1924. They will therefore be four years ahead of the battleship design.

Then, again, I think we can take it for granted that all countries will adopt submarines, mines, aeroplanes, torpedoplanes, dirigible torpedoes, poisonous gas, fast hydroplane boats carrying torpedoes, and directional wireless, as means for defending their harbors, ports, coaling stations, docks, entrances to canals, and important coast towns.

We can also take it for granted that by 1924 all countries will be fully equipped with these weapons, and that battleships will not be able to approach until the defence is entirely destroyed.

I will now, sir, with your permission, put before you as briefly as I can some of the statements that have been made by those who wish to build battleships. I shall subdivide them under four headings.

I

Platitudes arrived at from no basis and unsupported by any reasonable evidence:—

A. The capital ship must remain the unit on which sea power is built up.

B. We must build battleships because the United States and Japan are building some.

C. Unless we build battleships now, in a few years we shall be third in sea power as regards capital ships.

D. The battleship will still continue to play in the future the same vital part in naval warfare as it has done in the past.

E. It would be nothing short of madness for this country to give up building capital ships.

F. The construction of battleships is the best and most secure way of establishing our security.

G. We must have command of the sea.

H. The capital surface battleship is, and will be for years to come, the backbone of the Navy.

I. Without the battleship we could not exist as a nation in any future war.

J. Abandoning the building of battleships would leave the nation destitute of sea power, and without the means of progressive training.

K. Modern capital ships can be made tolerably safe against the explosion of more than one present day torpedo.

Comment on most of them is unnecessary, for you will see that the last one practically condemns all of them. Now combine A and K and we get the remarkable declaration:—

"That the modern capital ship which can only be made tolerably safe against the explosion of more than one present day torpedo remains the unit on which sea power is built up."

Our nine or ten million pound battleship, the unit of sea power, is only tolerably safe against "the present day" torpedo. How funny it reads.

I sincerely hope that our colonies will not follow our mad example, but will use their brains and their money in research and developing the new weapons of naval warfare. They could add 1,000 aeroplanes for the price of one battleship. In peace-time planes could be used for commercial purposes.

The advocates of building battleships next tell the taxpayers the use of them.

II.—The Use Of Battleships

A. The use of a battleship is to destroy smaller and less powerful vessels, and to impose its will on the water in which it cruises, but a pigmy in the shape of a destroyer can sink a battleship.

B. The use of battleships is to fight the enemy fleet, but if the enemy's battlefleet will not fight, it appears useless, but its potency is still there.

C. The use of the battleship is to convoy defensive power to any part of the world, by sea.

D. Battleships are necessary to carry war into the enemy's country, destroy his fleet, his coaling stations, harbours, docks, and fortifications.

E. The midshipman says. . . .

A and B require no answer. C and D. refer to functions that we know battleships cannot perform under modern conditions of naval warfare. During the war we kept our battleships as far away as possible from the enemy's coaling stations, harbours, docks, and fortifications.

III.

We now come to the belittling of the power of the submarine and torpedo.

The taxpayers is told that no modern capital ship of English or German design has been sunk by a torpedo. This may be true, but no distinction ought to be made between a mine and a torpedo. In the case of the mine the ship runs up against "a charge of high explosive"; in the case of a torpedo "a charge of high explosive" runs up against the ship.

The statement that no modern battleship has been sunk by a torpedo has been much used as a strategical way of conveying to the taxpayer the fable that a modern battleship cannot be sunk by under-water attack. The public have over and over again been told that the fourteen battle and other ships that were sunk by under-water attack were only old ones.

The implication in the statements is that the under-water protection of the modern battleship employed in the war was of such a nature that she was immune from under-water attack, but the world knows that this is not in accordance with fact. Early in the war our most modern battleship, H.M.S. Audacious, was sunk by a mine or a torpedo—it does not signify which: I have demonstrated that practically they are the same, the only difference being that one you bump and the other bumps you.

The next travesty we come across is that during the war enemy submarines in no way interfered with the movements of our capital ships in carrying out operations. This statement may be accepted by the public, but it naturally will not be accepted by naval officers. We regard it as bad a fable as the one I have just recited. The world knows the Queen Elizabeth was hurried home as soon as German submarines appeared in the Mediterranean, and we thought it jolly lucky to get her back. The remainder of the battleships dispersed, some to the bottom of the ocean, some managed to get into port, and lashed merchant ships alongside them as a protection against submarines.

Enemy submarines drove our Grand Fleet from Scapa Flow to Lough Swilly. Will the public be told that this interference with movement was because the Grand Fleet wanted change of air?

IV.

The attack from the air, on capital or any other ships. Here again those who wish to build battleships use any subterfuge they can to belittle the potentiality of attack from the air, among other things.

The public are told that the attack from the air on the Goeben was not a success. The public are not reminded of the fact that this happened about five years ago, when we had no suitable bombs, and no torpedo-planes for attacking ships.

The bombs used to attack the Goeben weighed about 40 lb. to 100 lb. Mr. Holt Thomas tells us that today we would use bombs of one ton each; what will they be in three years when our battleships are built? It is the undeveloped future that we have to think about.

We, I believe, are very backward as regards guns in the air, but the Americans are making rapid strides in that direction. They already have, I am told, a 6in. gun of the Davis pattern, and I do not see why that should not grow into a 12in.

Such a gun 10,000ft. high, firing 500 lb. bombs on to the deck of a battleship five miles off would create a very unpleasant sensation on board.

For defence we must have supremacy in the air; we must have submarines and other craft. I can quote no sound reason for building battleships now.

PRESENTING THE COLOSSAL SOCIAL DRAMA

"THE WRONG WOMAN"

IN SIX PARTS

Are you interested in—
The trend of twentieth century love,
The success of prohibition in the home,
The advisability of woman's spontaneous love,
Love of your own child or an adopted one,
Awakening of love through jealousy?

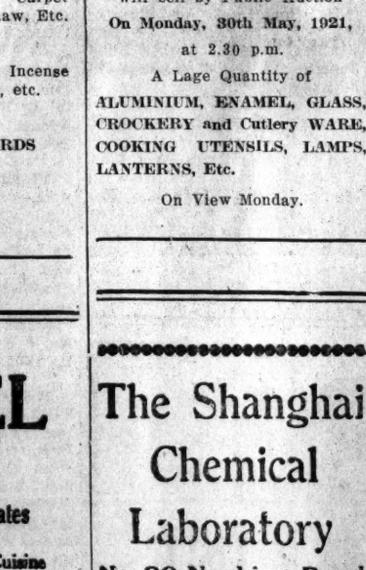
THEN SEE "THE WRONG WOMAN"

Can a father display equal love for his own and foster daughter? See this situation solved in the tense drama

"THE WRONG WOMAN"

She was the cause of all sorrow. An unsuspecting girl, made the victim of circumstance, becomes

"THE WRONG WOMAN"



Women always suffer because of man's foolish infatuations, they pay the price for his excesses, they are the victims of his jealousy and perfidy. No discrimination is made whether she be the right woman or "THE WRONG WOMAN." She is the victim of circumstances. Such perplexing problems are all part of the plot of the feature production, "THE WRONG WOMAN."

Have you ever been made the victim of circumstances, of jealousy, of idle gossip, of excesses?—perhaps your emotions are depicted in this picture. You will want to see it.

Matinee on Sunday 29th, showing 'THE WRONG WOMAN'

National Committee, Y.W.C.A. Entertains

A large gathering of friends and members of the Young Women's Christian Association was held yesterday afternoon at the headquarters of the local Association on Quinsan Road, when the National Committee and the local board of directors were at home.

Following the tea-hour a short program was presented, Mrs. H. C. Mei presiding. Talks were given by Miss Grace Coppock and Mr. David Yui, national general secretaries of the Young Women's and Young Men's Christian Associations respectively, on the place of the Y.W.C.A. in the life of Chinese women and in relation to a community such as Shanghai. A play given by the girls club of the Wu Bung Girls School, served to present some of the standards of public health which the Y.W.C.A. is endeavoring to promote throughout China. Opportunity was given to see typical classes conducted by the educational department while they were in session, and exhibits placed throughout the buildings pictured the many activities of the Association both in China and abroad.

The occasion afforded an all-round opportunity to demonstrate to the citizens of Shanghai how their support of the Young Women's Christian Association as shown during the budget campaign of last fall is making it possible for the organisation to serve the Chinese girls and women of the city.
